Dulles Opens Talks — 'No Arm-Twisting'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek opened their conference today against a backdrop of renewed cannonading of Quemoy.

After a 2½-hour meeting between Dulles and Chiang, a U.S. state department spokesman said "Mr. Dulles is not here to twist anybody's arm or apply any heat or pressure."

While the talks progress, the Chinese Communists sent their shore guns into action for the second day, but on a much lighter scale. The defence ministry said up to noon only 362 shells had hit Quemoy, compared with more than 11,500 Monday.

But there was no doubt the abrupt Communist decision to end their self-imposed cease-fire had an important bearing on the Dulles-Chiang discussions.

Joseph Greene, special assistant to Dulles, said Dulles' first conference with Chiang was "a stocktaking of the present situation."

He said the political and military situation was being assessed along with Communist propaganda.

Greene took this tack on reports that the United States might bring pressure on Chiang to cut down forces on the offshore islands in the hope of obtaining a permanent cease-fire.

He said applying heat or pressure "would not be in tune with the relationship of mutual trust and confidence of the two countries as allies."

The Red action stiffened Nationalist opposition to any such reduction of forces, however.

Dulles, on arrival, said his talks with Chiang "are not aimed at reaching any new agreements."

Stukus Scores In Meeting With Chiang

VANCOUVER (CP) — President Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China has told a Vancouver Sun reporter there is no danger of world war as long as the Nationalists hold the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

The private interview, a rarity, was reported today by Annis Stukus, the newspaper's football editor and former coach of the B.C. Lions, who has been writing a series of articles on the Formosan situation during a special, off-beat assignment.

Stukus said the interview was granted because "I am the lone Canadian newspaper man among 72 foreign correspondents on Formosa."

He quoted Chiang as saying: "The battle of Quemoy proved that as long as we hold the offshore islands there is no danger of war involving either the United States or the world."

Stukus' account apparently was written before the renewal of shelling by the Reds.

MORAL SUPPORT

"During the battle, we received moral and supply support only. There were no United States forces involved in the actual fighting."

"On the other hand if the islands fall, the Communists will pour into Taiwan Strait where direct clashes with United States forces are possible."

Chiang continued: "We must hold the offshore islands to prevent another world war."

Stukus quoted the Nationalist president as saying there is also no change in policy regarding Nationalist China's avowed intention of invading the Chinese mainland.

"Recovery of the mainland is a fixed policy," he said, Chiang told him. "It has not been changed."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Eternal Father, whose will it is always to do right, guide us to examine not only the goals of our life but also our methods for achieving them. May we know that with Thee the means of life are ends and that fine results may easily be forfeited by shoddy and unworthy processes of achievement. Help us to avoid questionable shortcuts to success and learn anew that he who would be first must be last and he who would be master must be servant of all. This we pray in Jesus' name. Amen.

CUBAN REBELS KIDNAP 2 AMERICAN OIL MEN

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban rebels kidnapped two Americans and seven Cuban employees of the American-owned Texaco refinery at Santiago de Cuba Monday, and fled with them into mountain hideouts.

The U.S. Embassy in Havana said the nine men were seized by a rebel band near the oil refinery around noon Monday.

The motive for the kidnapping was not learned. The rebels last June kidnapped several other Americans and three Canadians. They were released unharmed.

Lawyer Asks Acquittal On Sommers

Defence Ends In Bribe Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lawyer Angelo Branca today called for the unconditional acquittal of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers as he wound up the defence in the marathon bribery-conspiracy trial.

The counsel for the 47-year-old former minister told an assize court jury that Sommers deserved their recommendation, not their condemnation.

Mr. Branca said it would be "most dangerous indeed" for the jury to accept the evidence of the crown's chief witness.

He tabbed the witness, former Pacific Coast Services Limited bookkeeper Charles Eversfield, as a dishonest man whose testimony was in conflict with testimony of other witnesses, and who was even in conflict with the very records he had kept for the timber brokerage firm.

Mr. Branca, representing former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, suggested that if Eversfield had been an honest man he would have resigned from the Pacific firm when he became suspicious of illegal transactions.

But he did not. Instead, he had taken documents from Pacific files knowing they would be most embarrassing because they recorded the transfer of funds to a minister of the crown.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield then formulated a plan to try to obtain some money from the Pacific firm.

The lawyer told the B.C. Supreme Court jury that Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson probably would instruct them as to Eversfield's position as an accomplice in the case. He anticipated his lordship would instruct that the jury could convict on the evidence of an accomplice but it would be a dangerous thing to do.

"Why, Mr. Foreman and members of the jury, do something that is dangerous in law?" the lawyer asked.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield's dishonesty was shown by a document allegedly setting out a three-way split of funds. It was Eversfield, he said, who Continued on Page 2

TCA Charges Bid Invalid

OTTAWA (CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines charged today that Canadian Pacific Airlines did not comply with government regulations in its application for a share of TCA's transcontinental monopoly.

John G. Edison, counsel for the publicly-owned TCA, questioned whether CPA's bid should be treated seriously "if it doesn't comply with the rules."

His statement followed questioning of R. B. Phillips, CPA operations vice president, who acknowledged that certain financial details required by the regulations had not been inserted in the application before the air transport board.

But Mr. Phillips added that all the information to back up his financial statements was available. If TCA really wanted the details, it could have asked for them some time ago.

"You didn't intend to supply the details unless asked for them, despite the fact they are asked for in the regulations," Mr. Edison said.

PLANES OBSOLETE?

He suggested the seven Douglas DC-6B piston-driven aircraft, which CPA would use if it got its requested Vancouver-to-Montreal franchise, would be made obsolete in a few years by the turbo-prop Vanguard and the jets, such as the DC-8.

Mr. Phillips said he could not agree with that. CPA might not be in as good a competitive position with piston aircraft as with the faster planes, but the DC-6B would show good service for some time.

Considerable sympathy has been expressed by choirmasters in Victoria and on the mainland for views held by former-Christ Church Cathedral choirmaster Graham Steed on his all-male choir.

A difference with Cathedral officials who favored a mixed choir was one reason for his resignation last week.

Frederick Chubb, choirmaster and organist at St. John's Anglican Church said "it is pretty hard to mix voices."

"They are both good but you can't mix them, you have got to have either one or the other."

"There is no question about it from a musical point of view," said Herman Bergink of First Baptist Church, "boys' voices are the most beautiful."

Mrs. Rodney Webster of Fairfield United Church said "mixed choirs are the tradition we ought to keep up in Canada. Using all-male choirs is just transporting English tradition to another country."

A survey of churches in Vancouver indicated the same feeling for male choirs existed there.

"We used to have an all-male choir in the good old days, and I sympathize with that ideal," commented Rev. Patrick Ellis of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Valuable Lesson In Dieppe Raid

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent (See page 12)

OTTAWA—The Dieppe raid, far from being a "useless" operation was part of a combined Anglo-American-Canadian strategy that had far-reaching effects on future invasion plans, producing valuable lessons for the planners.

This is the conclusion of experts here who have studied the Dieppe raid, including military historians and generals closely connected with the operation.

They took issue with American military historian Samuel Eliot Morison. He states in his book "Strategy and Compromise" that the Dieppe raid was a British waste of Canadian manpower.

Col. C. P. Stacey, official Canadian army historian, said: "In the first place it is absolutely incorrect to infer that Dieppe was purely a British plan. It was a plan that had the agreement of the Americans. The United States military leaders in Britain subscribed to it."

Another officer who preferred to remain unidentified said that it was clear that the results of the Dieppe operation did change the high level attitude of Allied strategists towards such invasions of the French coast. He turned to Col. Stacey's "Six Years of War" as his authority. At page 401 Col. Stacey wrote:

NEW TECHNIQUE

"A new technique of landing and support was required, and largely on the basis of the Dieppe experience it was developed before the Normandy assault of 1944..."

The Dieppe experiences showed that launching such large-scale invasions depending upon surprise was not good enough. There had to be heavy naval bombardment and heavy bomber attacks to pave the way. In all future planning leading up to the Normandy invasion the Dieppe lessons played a part and undoubtedly saved lives.

Before Dieppe the planners had believed that the element of surprise without preparatory bombardment or bombing raids would be successful. After Dieppe that sort of thinking was forgotten, a Canadian staff officer pointed out.

NEW YORK—"Malthus," said the professor, and my startled look must have amused him. "We're not worried about Malthus."

The speaker was an economist from the Economic Research Institute of Peiping and he spoke scornfully. His reference was, of course, to Thomas Albert Malthus, a British curate who died 124 years ago but whose theory that an unchecked population far outruns the growth of food supply is still the stuff that population arguments are based upon.

Red China's future hopes—to feed its expanding masses and to become a modern industrial power—rest squarely on the ability of 500,000,000 hoe swinging peasants to prove the thoughtful curate wrong.

Theirs is an awesome task: to feed 640,000,000 persons. And every day another 40,000 mouths demanding rice!

Population experts project a population for mainland China in 25 years of one billion. By then the problem will be to feed this horde with only three-tenths of an acre per person. (The U.S. today has two acres of cultivated land per person.)

In no place upon the globe has so little land been called upon to sustain so many persons. Can it ever be done? Modern Malthusians in Washington, London and Moscow would give a lot to know.

Over and over I asked the question during my 7,000-mile trip across Red China, visiting, farms in the major food-producing areas. Invariably the answers exuded the brash confidence of one fertilizer factory engineer who boasted:

"We can feed 15 billion people if we have to."

China has two secret weapons for dealing with what must surely be the biggest food problem any nation ever faced: 1, the "great leap forward" in Continued on Page 10

New Deadline Extension Asked

By PETE LOUDON

The Sons of Freedom Doukhobors' proposal to move to Russia is developing into "a farce," Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He made the statement as chances grew slim that the troublesome sect will leave Canada.

With the deadline for filing forms only 12 hours away, only 44 have been turned in.

It is reported the guiding committee of the sect now wishes to renegotiate terms of government assistance and is sending a new delegation to see Mr. Bonner today.

'NONSENSE'

"I don't think either the federal or provincial governments have to scurry around to participate in that type of nonsense," said Mr. Bonner. "This is reducing the matter to a farce."

He had no appointment with a delegation, he said.

A lawyer representing the sect had contacted the attorney-general Monday, outlining new proposals for financial aid.

Earlier, the two governments had promised to spend an estimated $2,000,000 in transportation and settlement assistance, if those wishing to leave Canada would sign forms giving up Canadian citizenship — effectively barring re-entry.

Mr. Bonner said: "That's not the way we can deal with this type of thing. We can't deal in this casual way on this short notice."

"This is a last-moment type of manoeuvre."

CONDITIONAL

He reminded the sect: "The minister of justice stated the governments' positions would be conditional upon filing of forms then signed by Oct. 21."

They are to be filed with government agents or immigration officials at Vancouver, Nelson, Grand Forks or Rossland.

"The day is not over yet, but I have not heard of any filings."

If evidence is shown that there has been insufficient time in certain cases, consideration has been given, to another extension, but to no later than Nov. 15.

Ottawa Trip Considered By Bennett

Premier Bennett may go to Ottawa to further his campaign for increased federal aid to this province.

He said today B.C. will keep on applying for assistance in meeting 1958 forest fire costs, a federal waiving of a 10 per cent tax on new toll bridges, and a subsidy for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

He said at a press conference: "They (the federal government) can't see over the mountains."

Asked if there was any chance he would take his longstanding requests direct to the senior government, he replied: "There may be."

NO ANSWER

The premier confirmed there has been no answer to his August request for federal sharing of extraordinary forest fire fighting costs. He had asked Ottawa to pay 50 per cent of all costs above normal—which would have worked out at over $2,000,000.

Premier Bennett said "it is months" since he requested cancellation of the federal 10 per cent sales tax on materials going into new bridges.

"There has been no satisfaction from Ottawa regarding the PGE subsidy," he added.

"We will keep on applying," he stated.

Premier to Holiday

Premier Bennett plans a short vacation at an unnamed resort around the end of this month.

All he would tell reporters today was: "The premier doesn't want to be tired when he makes his decisions."

'Valuable Lesson' In Dieppe Raid

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent (See page 12)

OTTAWA—The Dieppe raid, far from being a "useless" operation was part of a combined Anglo-American-Canadian strategy that had far reaching effects on future invasion plans, producing valuable lessons for the planners.

"This is the conclusion of experts here who have studied the Dieppe raid, including military historians and generals closely connected with the operation."

They took issue with American military historian Samuel Eliot Morison. He states in his book "Strategy and Compromise" that the Dieppe raid was a British waste of Canadian manpower.

Col. C. P. Stacey, official Canadian army historian, said: "In the first place it is absolutely incorrect to infer that Dieppe was purely a British plan. It was a plan that had the agreement of the Americans. The United States military leaders in Britain subscribed to it."

Another officer who preferred to remain unidentified said that it was clear that the results of the Dieppe operation did change the high level attitude of Allied strategists towards such invasions of the French coast. He turned to Col. Stacey's "Six Years of War" as his authority. At page 401 Col. Stacey wrote:

NEW TECHNIQUE

"A new technique of landing and support was required, and largely on the basis of the Dieppe experience it was developed before the Normandy assault of 1944..."

The Dieppe experiences showed that launching such large-scale invasions depending upon surprise was not good enough. There had to be heavy naval bombardment and heavy bomber attacks to pave the way. In all future planning leading up to the Normandy invasion the Dieppe lessons played a part and undoubtedly saved lives.

Before Dieppe the planners had believed that the element of surprise without preparatory bombardment or bombing raids would be successful. After Dieppe that sort of thinking was forgotten, a Canadian staff officer pointed out.

Last of the Bureau-Cats Gets a Raise for Mousing

LONDON—The last bureaucrat in the service of the government, Peter, official mouser of the home office, has got a raise.

Peter is on the ministry's payroll at £6 10s ($18.20).

This pay, in reality an expense allowance, has been increased due to rising costs.

Government cats used to serve in most ministries.

The home office got down a file marked "office cats, maintenance" to get Peter's history.

"It says here," the spokesman droned, "Peter joined the home office staff when he was a kitten 10 years ago."

What's Peter's score for mice?

"We don't keep statistics. But everyone seems satisfied that he does his job well."

What happens when Peter dies?

"We don't entertain the idea here."

As long as men can remember there always has been a Peter in the home office. Always black.

'SOCIAL ELITE' PUBLISHER THREATENED

TORONTO (CP) — Nearly two dozen "threatening" telephone calls have been received by David B. Crombie, vice-president of the Social Register of Canada, since its publication was announced Friday.

Mr. Crombie said the calls, most of them during the weekend, accused him of "trying to foment a class war in Canada."

He said the callers made no specific threats but "there was a lot of hostility and they said nasty things I wouldn't care to repeat."

Fishboat Beached

SEATTLE (AP)—A Canadian fishing vessel, the White Swan, was being pumped out today on the beach after colliding with a gravel barge off Seattle's Magnolia district Monday.

Churches Cool On Co-Ed Choirs

Considerable sympathy has been expressed by choirmasters in Victoria and on the mainland for views held by former Christ Church Cathedral choirmaster Graham Steed on his all-male choir.

A difference with Cathedral officials who favored a mixed choir was one reason for his resignation last week.

Frederick Chubb, choirmaster and organist at St. John's Anglican Church said "it is pretty hard to mix voices."

"They are both good but you can't mix them, you have got to have either one or the other."

"There is no question about it from a musical point of view," said Herman Bergink of First Baptist Church, "boys' voices are the most beautiful."

"If the boys are suitably trained," said C. C. Warren of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, "I don't think there is anything nicer for the Anglican order of service."

Mrs. Rodney Webster of Fairfield United Church said "mixed choirs are the tradition we ought to keep up in Canada. Using all-male choirs is just transporting English tradition to another country."

A survey of churches in Vancouver indicated the same feeling for male choirs existed there.

"We used to have an all-male choir in the good old days, and I sympathize with that ideal," commented Rev. Patrick Ellis of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(From Times News Services)

HOLLYWOOD—It was a cocktail party for poet Carl Sandburg but it wound up as a wrestling match between Bing Crosby's son, Gary, and a businessman twice his age.

John Geiger, 48, west coast head of a cheese firm that used to sponsor Bing's radio show, said he walked up to young Crosby—and: "I told him who I was and wanted to introduce my wife to him. But all of a sudden we were on the floor wrestling. He insulted my wife."

Said 24-year-old Gary: "I still don't know what happened. This fellow just came up to me and the first thing I know I'm wrestling on the floor with him."

Bystanders — actor James Mason among them — separated the combatants. Neither was hurt, but Geiger lost his tie.

Poet Sandburg and lots of cocktails had disappeared by the time the late floor show started, some 3½ hours after the party began. And so had most of the other celebrities, including Milton Berle, Groucho Marx, Alex Guinness, Sammy Davis Jr., Tina Louise and Barbara Nichols.

LONDON — A 16-year-old youth who did nothing all day but watch television was put under state care today to undergo three weeks of medical examinations.

His father told juvenile court that television had reduced his son to the "state of a zombie."

IRVINGTON, N.J.—Edward Kaplan walked up to his convertible to find a horse eating the trunk during its lunch hour.

He summoned police. Police said the horse's teeth had dented the hard metal.

The horse pulls a junk wagon. It molested Kaplan's car during lunch hour. When officers questioned the owner of the horse, he replied:

"Why question me? I didn't do anything."

Police left Kaplan, the horse owner and the horse to resolve the problem.

"LIAR'S DREAM"

Monday Mr. Branca suggested Sommers is the victim of a liar's dream.

He said the liar was chief Crown witness Charles Eversfield. And the dream, he said, was Eversfield's dream of making a killing through blackmail.

"Eversfield has been living with this drama and dreaming it since 1953 because he had ulterior motives," the lawyer said.

"Blackmail was the purpose he had in mind."

Mr. Branca also attacked the credibility of other crown witnesses, said they had been called on to recall events of three, four and five years ago, and criticized the crown for not calling a bank manager witness whose testimony for the defence conflicted with that of Eversfield.

Mr. Branca was critical of the fact the crown had not called bank manager Carl Loath.

The defence lawyer recalled that when called by the defence, Loath had denied an assertion by Eversfield that he had been present in Loath's office with H. W. Gray when a $2,000 telegraphic transfer to Sommers was arranged. He suggested Loath had no interest in the case but Eversfield had and the jury would draw its conclusion from that.

$150,000 Fire at Dawson

(FROM CP DISPATCHES)

DAWSON CREEK—Damage estimated at more than $150,000 was caused early today when fire destroyed the Dawson Implements Limited building and sent guests from a nearby hotel into the streets in pyjamas.

The one-storey timber frame implements building housed a tractor and automobile agency and three new cars and two new tractors were destroyed along with the $90,000 building.

Flames shooting from oil supplies in the building threatened the east wall of the new brick-built Park Hotel, and many of the more than 40 guests aroused by the 5 a.m. fire alarm fled the building.

Power to the downtown area was cut off for more than an hour as a result of the blaze.

MILK PRICE UP

VANCOUVER—The British Columbia Milk Board announced Monday that dairymen shipping through the board will receive about 12 cents more per can for milk sold on the fluid market next month.

Board chairman E. C. Carr said the higher price will increase returns about $24,000 a month in the Vancouver area, $2,100 in the Okanagan area and $5,100 a month on Vancouver Island.

MURDER BAIL ASKED

CHILLIWACK—A request to make application for bail was made here by counsel for a 19-year-old Rosedale, B.C., youth charged with the murder of his older brother.

The surprise action, a rarity in a murder trial, was made by Miles Nottingham of New Westminster, B.C., counsel for Robert Arthur Chapman.

Announce Way To Help Drain All 8 Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New decongestant tablet for sinus congestion sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pain

Toronto, Ont. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet development which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished quickly and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful typically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only $1.25 for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or purchase price will be refunded.

1,000 NEGROES UNDER ARREST

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Nearly 1,000 Negro women were taken into police custody today after a protest march against having to carry identity documents. There was no violence.

Some 500 of the women were arrested for staging an unauthorized procession while 400 others in the centre of the city surrendered voluntarily to police, saying they felt the same as those arrested and should be held as well. The 500 sang and stamped their feet. They were stopped by a force of about 50 white and Negro police armed with sticks and revolvers.

'Is It Hypocritical To Honor War Dead?

A school trustee's attack on Remembrance Day as hypocrisy brought an immediate defence from a Canadian Legion official Monday night.

Trustee R. H. Reeve criticized Remembrance Day at a Greater Victoria school board meeting when it passed a recommendation to allow distribution of poppies among school children during the week of Nov. 3 to 7. The pupils receive poppies whether or not they contribute.

"How long are we going to perpetuate Remembrance Day?" he said. It goes against my grain—this hypocrisy of marking Remembrance Day when we are begging in this city for the award of a contract to build a warship to give employment.

"I lost my father and my brother in the war so I'm not on the outside looking in," he said.

L. Zeal, president of the Canadian Legion's Britannia branch here, said he could understand that "Mr. Reeve was driving at observance of Remembrance Day in the midst of an armament program."

"But, if Mr. Reeve was living under Nazi domination, as he well might have been, he might change his mind," he said. "We veterans feel that we should continue the memory of those who fell in defence of our country."

MANY HELPED

Mr. Zeal said sale of the poppies provided funds for a variety of charitable works for all ex-service men and their families including assistance for disabled, war orphans and widows.

"Mr. Reeve, unlike most veterans, seems to feel that life should stop and memory with it. We feel that life must go on and we want to help those who need it," he said.

"In any event, is it more hypocritical to mark the passing of those who died for us than it is to remember the death of one's own family?"

Col. R. B. Longridge, Canadian Legion zone commander for the Victoria district, declined comment.

"I guess everyone is entitled to his own opinion," he said.

'Stupid Day For Holiday'

Selection of Nov. 19, a Wednesday, as a special centennial year holiday for B.C. school children was criticized by a Greater Victoria school board trustee Monday.

Other holidays will be Nov. 11, Remembrance Day, falling on a Tuesday. The following Friday, Nov. 14, school will be cancelled here due to the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association annual fall convention.

But the following week's centennial year holiday angered Trustee R. H. Reeve.

"Why did they pick a stupid day like that for? It's in the middle of the week."

MARXIST REBEL WRITER TOPS NOBEL CANDIDATES

STOCKHOLM (AP) — An anti-Marxist book by a Soviet writer, banned in Russia "for lack of literary value," may be rewarded with this year's Nobel Prize for literature.

The writer, who is reported to top the 1958 list of literary Nobel Prize candidates, is 68-year-old Boris Pasternak, who still lives in Russia.

The book is "Doctor Zhivago," a novel about a wealthy Russian doctor and his trials through this century's wars and revolutions.

The 18 members of the Swedish Academy of Letters are to pick the winner of this year's $41,420 literary prize next Thursday.

Mayor Supported In Sign Dispute

City council Monday backed Mayor Percy Scurren in the recent controversy over permanent Capital Improvement District Commission signs.

Ald. Hugh Ramsay made a motion at the special council meeting endorsing the mayor's action in revealing that a CIDC member had threatened to "vote against another nickel for the city" if council refused to allow the commission to erect permanent signs on its projects.

Waldo Skillings admitted he spoke to the mayor about the signs but denied that he made any threats. He has demanded an apology from the mayor at the next CIDC meeting.

Council agreed with Ald. Ramsay that it "should go on record as being behind the mayor." He said the endorsement would give full council support to the mayor in any further discussions on the signs.

RIGHT ACTION

The motion was seconded by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who said his opposition to the CIDC proposal sparked the issue.

Funeral Today For Well-Known Cowichan Farmer

DUNCAN — Funeral was scheduled for 2 p.m. today for Joseph Banks Metcalf, 67, well-known farmer of the Cowichan district who died Friday.

What Price Power?

PREMIER BENNETT ANSWERS a question long in British Columbia's mind by announcing definitely that the Wenner-Gren interests will dam the Peace River. But this is only the beginning of an answer. Large, unanswered questions remain.

If, as Mr. Bennett says, the Peace will be dammed to produce four million horsepower of electricity—the largest power project in America if not in the world—where is the power to be sold? Even more interesting to electrical consumers, at what price is it to be sold?

Obviously there is no immediate market for anything like the output of the proposed Peace River dam, since British Columbia presently uses less than four million horsepower.

It follows that at the beginning anyway, and probably for years to come, a huge power surplus will exist. Nevertheless the cost of the dam, turbines and power lines must be provided from the start and must be paid by somebody.

If it, or any large part of it, is to be paid by the electrical consumers until the project becomes profitable, it seems likely that power rates will be high. Moreover, the transmission of power across some seven hundred miles to the coast—the longest haul in America—will be extremely expensive.

Already the coastal consumers of British Columbia (as we have demonstrated by detailed figures) are paying some of the highest rates on the continent. Is the Wenner-Gren scheme calculated to raise them still higher?

The next question is what the Peace River scheme will do to the development of the Columbia. Mr. Bennett has a ready but unconvincing reply.

He says that Peace River power will cost two-thirds as much as Columbia power. How can he know that when nobody knows what Columbia power will cost? No one can possibly say what Columbia power will cost until the engineering survey now under way is completed.

Besides, the Peace is to be harnessed, apparently, with one dam at heavy initial investment. The Columbia could be harnessed in stages. The costly master dam at Mica Creek need not be installed at the start. The investment can be increased with the sale of power and an uneconomic surplus avoided.

Mr. Bennett, however, does not visualize the sale of most of the Columbia power in Canada. Returning to the policy of his Kaiser Dam deal, he intends that most of the power shall be exported to the United States, at least for a long time.

Hence British Columbia may face the danger of high-cost Peace River power serving both coast and interior while Columbia power, perhaps cheaper, goes to our American neighbors. Or alternatively the Wenner-Gren scheme will shoulder the whole Columbia development aside, delaying it indefinitely.

The two schemes cannot properly be considered apart from each other—but Mr. Bennett is determined to go ahead on the Peace before any firm plans can be made on the Columbia. And he does not tell us, if he knows, what Peace power will cost the consumer.

His assurance that the B.C. Power Commission will be offered Peace power has little meaning. The Power Commission, hived into thin, marginal markets, will need a small fraction of the Peace output. Clearly most of it, sold on the coast, will go to the B.C. Electric which, like the Power Commission, is given no chance to develop cheaper electricity.

The whole economy of British Columbia, its industries and private homes, are being committed to the Peace project. Are Mr. Wenner-Gren and associates making our power policy for us while the Governments of Canada, British Columbia and the United States wrangle endlessly on the Columbia?

Perhaps Mr. Bennett has an answer to all these questions. Perhaps some great, unpublished secret lies behind the Wenner-Gren scheme, some titanic industrial development which could use most of the Peace power.

If so, it is to be hoped that Mr. Bennett will soon be able to reveal this secret. For on the face of his recent vague announcements British Columbia appears to be buying—for concessions not yet disclosed—a pig in a poke and a very expensive pig indeed.

Quiet for the Moment

WITH THE LAST OF THE British and American troops leaving their assignments in Jordan and Lebanon respectively, another chapter in the critical Near East appears to be ending.

At this date there seems little doubt that the hasty dispatch of Western forces to the two threatened countries—at the urgent invitation of the governments of those countries—served as a great stabilizing influence. Although their arrival aroused fiery denunciations from the Nasser and Khrushchev camps, the net result of their intervention was to place a damper on the revolutionary movements which were threatening to throw the whole Middle East area into a state of war.

The troops at least maintained the status quo until a more permanent settlement could be achieved by the United Nations Assembly. The settlement—agreed to by the Arab representatives—called for a cessation of the inflammatory propaganda that had poured into Jordan and Lebanon from nearby Arab countries, particularly from Cairo's vituperative radio.

That armistice is still being maintained. The threat to the life of Jordan's King Hussein has eased, the new Lebanese Government appears to have achieved peace in which to carry out its program.

The question remains: how long will this calm prevail? How long can dry tinder lie around under the Mediterranean sun before a spark, by accident or design, falls upon it?

The British and American troops helped to maintain order. They were not, perhaps, the best agency for this task, but they were the only agency immediately available. A United Nations force could have done the same job without the accusations of imperialistic and aggressive intent which hampered the British and American venture.

But the fact remains that there is no United Nations force in being—apart from that still employed in skeletal form along the Egyptian-Israeli border—which could be instantly deployed to meet an emergency situation. While such tasks must be carried out by individual nations the danger of retaliatory military action by other nations remains.

We should not have to wait for the actual outbreak of war, as in Korea or the Gaza Strip, before preparations are made to contain it.

First All-Victoria B.Ed.

VICTORIA COLLEGE COUNCIL president, Judge J. B. Clearhue, caught most of his hearers by surprise last week when he announced at the College assembly that the University of British Columbia would confer a degree on Mr. James Bruce, who has taken all his work at the College.

This is the first occasion on which a student has earned all his degree credits at Mount Tolmie. The case is exceptional, but it demonstrates the extent to which Victoria College has expanded its courses. They have not reached a point where the average student may proceed directly to a BA without study at the University. On the other hand they draw attention to the steady, if quiet, way in which the College faculty has been enlarging the curriculum.

Less surprising was Judge Clearhue's announcement that the buildings at Mount Tolmie are bursting at the seams and may not be able to accommodate all who wish to attend classes next year unless new construction is rushed. This is a condition which became evident with the spectacular increase in enrolment at the beginning of the current term.

College must have more facilities. It is reasonable to expect that it will receive them. And it is only common sense to make arrangements in new buildings to provide for more third and fourth-year work qualifying students for degrees here.

Mr. Clearhue forecast the possibility of full courses in arts and education by 1962. That is sooner than most friends of College had expected. It is not too soon, on the basis of needs reflected by a vastly increased student population.

The prospect calls for wholehearted and co-operative action by this community—the kind of co-operation given by the special Chamber of Commerce university committee to which the College board chairman paid tribute in his speech.

"Too bad about Fosset-Leake... didn't make it..."

LOOSE ENDS

THE senior business Executive (also known—intramurally as the Big Wheel because he revolved so rapidly in a stationary position) was hiring a junior Executive. This, as I gathered through the keyhole of a leading Vancouver corporation, is a very delicate matter indeed. Not only the mind but the body of the modern junior Executive has lately been revolutionized by science, as reported in detail by The Financial Post.

Quoting verbatim from that journal of commerce, the senior Executive spoke to the junior as follows: "An abundant crop of hair, a uniform set of sparkling teeth and just the right amount of avoirdupois going to waist can promote a well-adjusted personality, social contacts and business acceptability."

THE prospective junior Executive, seen through the keyhole, wore a sudden look of alarm. He did not have an abundant crop of hair or a set of sparkling teeth. The wrong amount of avoirdupois had gone to waist. I guessed that his personality was not well adjusted either, that his social contacts were indifferent and his business acceptability doubtful.

The senior Executive, still quoting from The Post, therefore recommended to the junior a "new boom in the beauty business for males. From politicians to salesmen," he said, "hundreds of men, dissatisfied with their looks, are making changes. Sales of toupees, capped teeth, optic lenses and exercise devices—to say nothing of girdle-equipped shorts and elevator shoes—are rising."

HE added what The Post called some "undisputed facts," including these: "More than 100,000 Canadians wear some type of hairpiece. Average cost, $100.

"Two per cent of the men dye their hair or have grey streaks retouched, compared with 25 per cent of the women in the middle and upper income brackets. Cost, about $10 every two weeks.

"Two per cent of the people requiring optical aids use contact lenses, until recently mostly women. Now half those being fitted are men. Cost, anywhere from $150 to $300.

"Tooth capping is done regularly by big city dentists. Cost, about $75 a tooth."

THE senior Executive paused for breath and laid The Post on his desk, but picked it up again to quote: "The quest for the features of Adonis is not confined to prominent executives and television performers. A new and expanding market is springing up among young salesmen whose bills for physical renovation often are paid by the firms they represent."

Then, with a stern, statesmanlike glance at the shivering junior, the senior read aloud: "Especially conscious of their appearance are politicians. Eight or ten members of the House of Commons wear toupees and, because Ottawa is a small city and words get around in government circles, they go to Montreal for period service. Human hair comes from Europe, grown by people who specialize in the sale of their luxurious manes. It is cleared through England, which ships some 20 tons a year to North America."

THE junior rubbed his bald pate and murmured that he would have to do something about it. The senior did not rub his. He did not wish, I suppose, to disturb his imported, European hair.

Picking up The Post again, he read on: "There isn't as much hair dyeing in Canada as in the U.S. where some establishments, like one in Manhattan's swank Fifties, cater strictly to the male trade. One specialist in Toronto estimates some 2 per cent of Canadian males have their hair tinted. Many of his customers are older men married to younger women. Their first tint ($15) usually follows the wife's none-too-subtle hint. A touch-up every two weeks runs about $10."

THE junior remarked, with deference, that his wife was older than he but promised to get himself tinted without delay. The senior commended this decision and concluded with a last quotation:

"A big market exists for appearance aids that don't involve physical modifications—shorts with elastic bands to flatter the stomach, shoes with built-in lifts for self-conscious little guys, suits with special padding to hide defects in skeletal structure. None of these costs much. A dollar extra for the shorts, a few dollars more for the shoes, a small additional charge on the tailor's account."

The junior said he would make the necessary investments. "Good," said the senior and, drawing himself up to the full height of his built-in shoes until his European locks almost touched the ceiling, and squaring his magnificent pneumatic shoulders, gave the junior a final word of advice.

"MODEL yourself on me," he said, "with a glint of his contact lenses. After a wasted, non-executive youth, I am now steel-reinforced, double-riveted, with dyed-in-the-wool dynamic gears, three hundred horse power, the latest shock-absorbers, wide vista vision, floating power, nylon upholstery and six waterproof coats of paint—in short, entirely automatic except for the brain which will be turned in on a 1959 model when available."

The junior Executive was hired on the spot and I saw him staggering toward the nearest beauty parlor.

As Our Readers See It

Antidote for Hate

John Strohm in his series of articles now appearing in the Times refers repeatedly to the hatred expressed by Communist Chinese toward the United States.

Canadians may blame the Chinese and American governments for this hatred and feel there is nothing they can do about it even though it might lead to the disaster of war. Yet Canada could help to lessen international tensions. Her government spends more than one-third of its reserve on armaments and is a member of NATO which must make Communist China feel threatened. Dr. Brock Chisholm, former director of the World Health Organization, has said that our high standard of living in itself arouses resentment in the millions of people who never have enough to eat. In India half the children die before the age of 12. We are fortunate to have better health conditions in Canada and we have not shared our good fortune sufficiently with other countries.

In studying and practising psychiatry I have been amazed to see the devious psychological mechanisms by which most of us protect ourselves from painful awareness of our faults. Often we just don't think about them or else blame other people. We may say we are too busy with jobs or family duties to do anything about world problems, or that we are powerless as individuals to affect larger issues.

Individuals can influence their government by writing to members of parliament, or by working with groups which deal with international problems.

Choral Society Carries On

In reference to the comments of Archbishop Sexton and of Mr. Graham Steed, I wish to clarify the position of the Victoria Choral Society.

In contradiction to the statement that the society will have to give up its activities, Mr. Steed has signified that he will carry on with rehearsals as usual in Christ Church Memorial Hall and will conduct a performance of The Messiah at the Christmas season as originally planned.

We deeply regret the circumstances which have led to Mr. Steed's resignation but feel it would be presumptuous to comment on these. We would say, however, that we, as a society, esteem it a great privilege to sing under the leadership of so devoted and inspired a conductor.

Victoria will suffer a great cultural loss if Mr. Steed leaves this city.

(Mrs.) MARY CAMPBELL
Secretary, Victoria Choral Society.

Dissension in God's House

How sad our peaceful Victoria is becoming when we have to read in our newspapers the various "unpleasantness" going on, i.e., the disgraceful rudeness to a visiting artist and the disturbance at our beloved Cathedral.

It am not a member there as I belong to another Anglican church, but all churches are God's house and it is surely sad to see dissension in His house.

How humble one should be when one is endowed with the wonderful gift of music to offer in His service and that thought should be first against all thoughts of one's own likes or dislikes.

Life Is Short

Now that the winter is about here and the dark, wet nights, I think something should be done to avoid pedestrian street accidents. I think many motorists, including myself will agree 75 per cent of the fault is our street lighting. Why can't our main streets be the same as most European cities where you are only allowed to drive with parking lights?

CANADA'S trade agreement with Russia is due to expire on Feb. 28, 1959. Under that three-year deal Canada sells Russia 400,000 tons of wheat a year for each of the three years or a total of 1,200,000 tons. But Canada has not stepped up its purchases from Russia by very much since the agreement was signed. When the time comes to renegotiate the agreement the Russians are going to point out that while they have been buying Canadian wheat in quantity they in turn have sold comparatively little to Canada in the way of furs or other commodities. It may be "no deal" the next time.

Aware that the Russians are not too happy with the relatively small increase in sales to this country the Canadian trade and commerce people point out that Canada is a "free" market. If the Russians want to sell they have to supply goods that Canadian buyers want at a price that is attractive.

When Canada goes to Russia to sell it is not competing in a "free" market. There it is a government decision whether or not the Canadian commodities will be purchased. But the Russians reply that they gave a firm commitment to buy large quantities of Canadian wheat and in return they expected to be able to step up sales of Russian goods in this country.

Deficit

The Old Age Security fund deficit is running around $4,000,000 a week. This is the fund out of which the old age pension is paid. It now is obvious that the two-two-two formula designed to keep the fund solvent is inadequate. It calls for two per cent on personal income taxes, two per cent on corporation taxes and two per cent on sales taxes. The government may be forced to take steps in the next budget to make income meet outgo for the fund.

Lacrosse

Canada's defence forces are going in for the guided missile as they go modern. The Royal Canadian Navy has the U.S.-made Sidewinder. The Navy uses two squadrons of Banshees armed with the Sidewinder. They fly from the aircraft carrier Bonaventure. The Sidewinder is an air-to-air missile and is credited with knocking numerous MiGs out of the air over the Formosa Straits when Chinese Nationalists tangled with the Chinese Communist airforce.

The Royal Canadian Air Force is to be equipped with Bomarc, a ground-to-air guided missile, and now comes the announcement that the Army is to have the Lacrosse, a ground-to-ground guided missile.

Future

The future of Donald Gordon, president of the Canadian National Railways, has come in for considerable attention since the Tories came into office. There have been rumors that he has been offered a top post at the World Bank, and the latest was that he has a chance to take the presidency of the Chase National Bank in the United States at a figure fancy for a salary.

He now receives $75,000 from the CNR, would reportedly receive over $100,000 from the banks.

But Mr. Gordon has reacted strongly to the Chase Bank rumor. He described it as "an utter complete fabrication—an example of irresponsible journalism. . . . I have never heard of such an offer. From New York the Chase Bank officials said it was "sheer fantasy."

Reporters cannot forget, however, that the same Mr. Gordon had "no knowledge" of his appointment as CNR president right up until the day before it was announced.

Attack

Congressman Brooks Hays of Arkansas, and Frank Coffin of Maine, got a surprise at an Ottawa press conference when an American reporter turned on them and criticized a recent report they had compiled on Canadian-American relations. The reporter, Gene Griffin, of the Chicago Tribune, was miffed over the criticism of American press in Canada, contained in the report.

The clash between Americans finally over, the Canadian reporters got down to questioning the visiting Democrats, and heard them say they were interested in how the new Canadian anti-dumping legislation would work against United States' exports. This is one aspect of the relations between the two countries on which they will report to Congress.

Federal-Provincial

Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan, has added his voice to the swelling chorus for another Dominion-Provincial conference. He said it should be convened with the least possible delay. He will find agreement in other provinces, particularly the Maritimes.

But even in Ontario Premier Frost is openly advocating a better deal for Ontario, and presumably to bring about such a new deal the honorable Mr. Frost would be prepared to have another conference called as soon as possible. Premier Fleming of New Brunswick wants another such meeting and soon.

No Signs

There are no signs that the government intends to call a conference before 1959, if indeed then. Certainly there are no plans to summon such a conference this fall. Prime Minister Diefenbaker is due to take off on a round-the-world flight about Oct. 28, and it will be Dec. 15 before he returns to Ottawa.

Finance Minister Fleming is also off on a round-the-world trip. He has gone to New Delhi for meetings of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank. He will return in November. His time between now and next January will be occupied in preparing the new budget for the coming session.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"Gina gives me a pain with that 'Arrivederci' stuff!"

Waiting for Seven League Boots

IN my own bumble-brained way I'm a little disappointed in science. It hasn't paid nearly enough attention to the development of a poor man's seven league boots.

It seems to me that science is currently trapped in a sort of Jules Verne rut. And the whole emphasis seems to be on expensive impedimenta.

Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea is strictly old hat. A Voyage to the Moon is a probability. I expect in my own lifetime.

Stott

But when it comes to human locomotion without a power plant big enough to light up a fair-sized city, science seems to be lagging. It hasn't yet developed a transistor-powered pair of roller skates that will take me between home and office quickly enough to allow decent time for lunch.

About the pedestrian best the world has produced in recent years is Herb Elliott—and Herb runs only twice as fast as I could run if I could run a mile.

What I want is a pocket-sized gadget that I can switch on to release me from the pull of gravity sufficiently to get home from the office in a hop-step-and-jump. I want a modern adaptation of seven-league boots and I think science is a little slow in providing them.

There was a time when I turned my imagination to stories they used to tell of Tibetan "masters," who reportedly had made some progress in their fight against gravity. As the accounts went, they had achieved a degree of detachment from physical laws which allowed them to cover astonishing distances in incredibly short time.

It always seemed disappointing that people who discussed this phenomenon with me explained that such powers could not be used in a down-to-earth kind of way. No Tibetans ever showed up at Olympic Games to prove that they could run faster or jump higher than anybody else. Such a demonstration, I was led to believe, would offend the occult—which seemed a pity.

So my hopes for seven-league boots have turned to the relatively materialistic field of Western science—and science has kept me waiting.

I count myself lucky to be among those people who have breakfasted under the Pacific sun of British Columbia and lunched the following day under the overcast of London, England. It still seems quite impossible to me, but I've done it.

That's one reason why I'm not happy that science is dragging its feet on seven-league boots. Also, my garage isn't big enough to house a Super Connie or a Comet.

Of course, in my time I expect that these infantry gadgets—a jet power pack strapped on your back—will propel people forward when they want to get somewhere in a hurry. But that isn't the principle I want developed.

I'm after something the size of a matchbox—cigaret lighter dimensions for the ladies—which will reduce the pull of gravity when you turn a knob or press a button.

It has to be compact—something you can pass around.

Then when Daughter asks if she can borrow transportation to the dance, you'll merely hand her your anti-gravitational pull capsule. She'll take it and, with a flick of the switch, be practically in the ballroom. And there won't be any of those sleepless hours waiting for her to return. Who ever heard of a young lady delayed after the party because the anti-gravitational pull capsule developed a flat tire, suffered a dead battery or ran out of gas?

The more I think of my idea, the better I like it. A simple little device like this, in addition to putting Shawinigan within a five-minute's walking distance, will help set the world on its feet.

Moon rockets, trans-polar subs—they're all a bunch of infinitely expensive junk compared to the modest miracle box I hanker after. C'mon, science, let's have the poor man's seven-league boots.

Doctor in a Hurry?

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

A few years ago, one night, a dozen cars piled up on the highway off the edge of a town, and many people lay bleeding and broken and badly banged up. The police started telephoning for doctors to come and help, but every time they reached a man he said, "I never make calls, and if I were to go out there now I would be of no use to you because I am a stomach specialist (or a baby specialist, or an ear, nose and throat man, or the head of a research laboratory, or a psychiatrist, or an X-ray man)."

Alvarez

After several hours of this sort of thing, the police told the medical profession that something would have to be done to remedy the situation. Also, wise physicians began to see that those many persons who had gone through such a miserable experience trying to find a doctor at 2 a.m., had developed a grievance against the medical profession, and this was bad for everyone.

All over the land, medical associations began to leave with the local telephone exchange a list of names of men who would make night calls, and in some cities a special small exchange was set up to handle all emergency calls. Recently, I read in an excellent article by Don Wharton that in Louisville, Kentucky, anyone who needs a doctor in a hurry merely dials a number, gives his name, address and telephone number, and in 10 minutes, a doctor calls him back, asks him for details and, if necessary, calls at the house. This emergency telephone number is well-publicized, and every Louisville hospital, police station, radio station and telephone operator has it. Twenty-five young doctors handle most of these emergency calls.

I read also that the medical society in Toledo, Ohio, was the first in the United States to establish such an emergency call system. Today, 710 such systems are in operation throughout this country. They reach 91 million people, or about half the population of the United States.

In a small farm community like Clinton County, Ohio, there is a rotating service with 12 physicians taking turns as the emergency doctor on duty. In Clark County, Kentucky, each week, one of the nine participating doctors becomes No. 1 emergency doctor, who doesn't leave the county all week; emergency doctor No. 2 doesn't leave without first seeing that a substitute is "covering" for him. In a big city like the Borough of Manhattan there is a panel of 235 doctors to handle the 8,000 emergency calls that come in each year.

The California Medical Association is now trying to work out a plan which will enable any resident of the state to dial a number and immediately be connected with the nearest emergency centre.

All of this is good news. I remember one night in a big city going to give a lecture before a large medical society. In the society headquarters I was much interested to see the special board-run by the doctors. As I remember, the women on the board were mainly ex-doctor's office nurses who knew well the medical and hospital facilities of their city, and were well used to handling people faced by a medical emergency. After talking to each person for a few minutes they would decide what type of doctor he or she needed, and then they would start hunting for him. Soon, he would be on his way.

Off With Their Heads!

Working in some old clumps of phlox the other day, I noticed something which has not been mentioned in this column, namely phlox seedlings.

Jack

Some varieties of phlox, especially the older pinks, seem to produce a quantity of viable seed, although it is rare that a seedling has a color worth keeping, for most of them are muddy-pink to lavender-pink.

The only way to prevent a crop of seedlings in the base of the old clump is to cut off the flower heads just as the florets fade.

Instances have been noted where a strong seedling has smothered a parent clump and had the gardener worried over a sudden change in color.

On old clumps of phlox you will find some 30 to 40 flower stems and many more small spindly growths. Some of the small growths will be the result of not dividing the clump every third to fifth year, others will be seedlings.

PULL THEM UP

To remove these small growths, I usually pull them up rather than cut them off. The pulling removes weak buds at the base which produce more puny growths.

The seedlings will come up with a complete root, while growths from the parent clump will have some rootlets but always show a piece of white

Woman Admits Stealing $46 From Esquimalt

A Victoria woman pleaded guilty to stealing $46 from the Corporation of Esquimalt and was remanded one week for probation report and sentence when she appeared in Esquimalt court Monday.

Betty J. Cuth, 2315 Cook, was employed last February as a bookkeeper-stenographer in the Esquimalt engineer's department.

Court was told a new system of issuing receipts was introduced in April, eliminating a receipt book formerly used. Mrs. Cuth retained the old receipt book and on two occasions—Sept. 7 and Sept. 10—received $30 and $16, respectively, issued payees old receipts and kept the cash, court was told.

Magistrate H. C. Hall ordered the woman to be held in jail until sentence is passed.

SYNOPSIS — A slow-moving weather system off the coast will bring rain to the southern part of the province over the next two days but timing its arrival is difficult. It now appears that it will rain on the coast tonight and in the interior Wednesday and that clearing will follow on the coast in the afternoon accompanied by brisk northwest winds. Southerly winds in advance of this disturbance will cause unseasonably high temperatures today and tonight while northerly winds following it will serve to drop temperatures again Wednesday night.

The Day YOU Were Born

Hazen Parnell Jefferies, 2139 Florence Street, is one of those naturally friendly types whom everyone loves.

He plays in school sports, but most of all he plays the trumpet, and very well too, it is said. He is taking private lessons and practices hard, which is rough on his family, but they love him, too. Says Hazen, "If Harry James can do it, why can't I?"

On the day he was born: Vancouver Island had bought over a million dollars' worth of Victory bonds to date.

Three men attempted to bribe a liquor clerk with $1. The clerk called the police.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce urged the B.C. government to set aside selected stands of timber for the enjoyment of the people of the province and visitors. The resolution drawn up by E. N. Horsey, Walter Luney, Harold Husband and Kenneth Drury, pointed out that many beautiful scenic vistas were being destroyed or damaged by commercial interests.

Some two hundred people were dying of starvation every day in Bengal Province, India.

A total of 4,340 allied prisoners-of-war were released by the Germans in an invalid prisoner exchange.

Col. C. C. Merritt, VC, escaped from a German internment camp but was recaptured four days later. His companion in the escape, Lt. J. E. R. Wood, wrote to his wife describing the exploit and remarked that the new "special security" camp to which they were sent was more comfortable and that the rations were better.

The date? Thursday, October 21, 1943.

Hazen is 15 today.

WELL, AT LEAST ERNIE DIDN'T FEEL ANY PAIN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Stautner, a big defensive tackle with Pittsburgh Steelers, came here Sunday to play a National Football League game against Cleveland Browns and went to sleep instead.

Before the game, the team doctor gave Stautner an injection to ease the pain of a bruised shoulder. Stautner went into a coma and was taken to hospital.

The doctor had injected a sedative instead of a pain killer.

When Stautner regained consciousness he was told the Browns won 27-10. He is in fair condition.

ANOTHER SLANT

By JIMMY BRESLIN

NEW YORK (NEA)—About a month ago, people started coming up to Bobby Gleason, who is a fight manager, and telling him not to accept any matches for Nino Valdes, his heavy-weight.

"It looks like you are all right," he was told. "You'll get a title shot with Floyd Patterson at Madison Square Garden in December."

Emil Lence, the promoter, came around and tied up Gleason for the show.

"We was set," Bobby says, "so I went to work. I take Nino up to Saratoga Springs for the baths. He don't like them. So we come down again. I want to please him. I hire three sparring partners, $10 a day apiece. I hire three kids to paint my gym—I want it clean-looking for the newspaper guys. I buy a load of whisky to throw a party."

"I figure I got Christmas made. Around the 5th or 12th of December we get a big payday. I figure on it."

"So now where am I? Not a word off Cus D'Amato. Emil Lence don't know anything. It looks like I never get the fight now. But we'll make Christmas. We'll make it all right. I'll be alongside him."

Gleason's title-shot—that hasn't appeared has the short, talkative manager dizzy. Also a bit broke. He sits in his Bronx gymnasium office all day waiting for the phone to ring. In the meantime, he hopes—and keeps turning down matches for Valdes.

"I'm keeping him in good shape," Bobby says. "But it's killing me. I can't sleep good at night, I'm cranky with my wife. And I must be in a grand, $1,200 in expenses already. Ain't there some way I can pull this thing out and get the match?"

In the ways of D'Amato and his heavyweight champion, nothing gets done until they're ready to have it done. The reasons behind waiting are usually hard to figure out. Which is D'Amato's business, of course. But this fact still does not prevent outsiders from wondering if he is ever going to match his fighter without a battle.

The Valdes fight seemed certain. Ned Irish of Madison Square Garden went through negotiations with Lence and the dates were kept open. Gleason started blowing money. The fight mob began to speculate on the affair.

Then (a) D'Amato promptly got mad at Lence, at least in public print, for talking about the match; (b) Ingemar Johansson KO'd Eddie Machen in a round and seemed to be a fine opponent for a June match, and (c) D'Amato became so interested in finding something wrong with Johansson's connections that the Valdes match was forgotten, perhaps for good.

Left was Gleason with a mess of bills—and Valdes eating as if he were being called upon to fight Russia.

"Did you ever see my guy eat?" Bobby asks. "I mean eat when he is not paying for it because I want him strong for a fight? You should put a wet towel around your head when you pay the bill."

Valdes, through victories over Mike DeJohn and Harold Carter, the latter on a good KO, moved into the challenging class. A massive, often lethargic fighter, he would seem to be too slow to keep up with Patterson's speed. But Nino can belt with a right hand and more than a few boxing people feel that's all the job requires. Patterson has fallen considerably in most estimates.

"I don't care how great or bad Patterson is," Gleason says. "Just get this thing straightened out so I can get a good street corner for the Christmas rush."

desperate bid to solve the controversial problem of a new formula for Grand Prix racing.

Britain wants the present formula limiting engine capacity to 2½ litre unsupercharged to continue.

The United States, planning its first entry into European Grand Prix racing, wants the engine capacity to be raised to three litres.

France and Italy are among European countries pressing for a limit of 1½ litres.

If the meeting breaks up without any decision, the present 2½-litre formula, due to end in 1960, will continue for the 1961 season.

Britain's big fear is that a change in the present formula will break the country's grip on Grand Prix racing.

The British-built Vanwall won six of this season's Grand Prix events. A change in formula, to 1½ litres for instance, would mean the end of the Vanwall as the fans have known it this season.

Another British Grand Prix car, the BRM, probably would disappear altogether. Its sponsors are reported unwilling to develop a new car and engine.

Clarke Wins All-Seattle Squash Final

Ranked 10th nationally in the United States, Ted Clarke of the Seattle College Club made a successful defence of his Victoria Squash Club invitational tournament "A" division championship Monday at the Sussex Hotel courts.

He defeated Tom Owens of the Washington Athletic Club of Seattle on the courts on which he won his first tournament 20 years ago.

Jeremy Breckon of Victoria, took "B" division honors with a win over Frank Wallace of the Vancouver Racquets Club while Mrs. Lavinia Greenwood defeated Mrs. Marjorie Stevenson in an all-Victoria women's final.

Other results:

"B" class—Jeremy Breckon (Vic) defeated Frank Wallace (Van).

"C" class—Tom Sloan (HMCS Naden) defeated Archie Stevenson (Vic).

"D" class—Lloyd Henderson (HMCS Naden) defeated John Reddin (Royal Roads).

Twilight class—Henry Baumann (Van) defeated Archie Stevenson (Vic).

Hill is the third division club's fifth manager in two years.

NEW BOXING RULES

LEIPZIG, East Germany (UPI)—The International Amateur Boxing Association has banned voting by referees and the "saving" of floored fighters by the bell.

Those two changes featured the net set of rules adopted by the annual congress of the IABA.

In future Olympic and other international championships, the scoring will be done solely by a panel of five judges. And if a boxer is on the floor when the bell rings to end the first or second round, the referee can continue counting him out.

However, at the end of the third, final round of an amateur bout, the bell-rule does not hold. Then, if the floored boxer has not been counted out when the bell rings, there is no kayo.

Decisions by "judges only" have been tried previously in various places, at least in professional boxing. But the counting-out after the bell over a floored man never was provided by any amateur or professional rule since the definitely-timed round system replaced the old London prize ring rules late in the last century.

Referees were shorn of their voting powers now because delegates to the congress felt that the referee is so busy policing a fight in the ring that he cannot also keep his mind on scoring. They figured that judges outside the ring can concentrate better on the job.

The referee change was made in an attempt to reduce the number of disputed decisions that marked recent decisions. Another rule was adopted to force all referees and judges to pass an examination every four years and thus "give proof of their ability."

The bell-count rule was passed to prevent stunned boxers from being partially revived in their corners and then sent out for punishment that could be very dangerous.

Fifteen of the delegates from 29 countries favored applying the count-out rule even after the bell had ended the fight; but that proposal was vigorously opposed by France, Britain and others on grounds that a man couldn't be counted out after a fight was officially finished.

The association also moved against the "blind" referees—banning those who wear glasses in the ring.

VOTING BY REFS BANNED

GENEVA (AP)—The Swiss Ice Hockey Federation has decided to ban the participation of a Russian team in an international tournament in Geneva next month, the Tribune de Geneve reported Monday.

The paper said the ban "has nothing whatever to do with sport and is most regrettable and embarrassing to the organizers."

Teams from Switzerland, Italy and Britain are also scheduled to take part.

Officials of the hockey federation refused to confirm or deny the ban.

Even Without a Reason Broken Bones Still Hurt

MONTREAL (CP)—National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell rapped the knuckles of Toronto Maple Leafs Monday in his first comment on the Case of the Illegal Elbow Pads.

It all started when Boston Bruins charged that broken jaws suffered by two of their top men—centre Bronco Horvath and defenceman Doug Mohs—resulted from illegal pads worn by Leafs. Leafs admitted they had used old-style pads without the required half-inch of sponge rubber padding because an order of new pads hadn't arrived.

Campbell said Monday he didn't see any reason why teams shouldn't have the approved type of pads.

"Clubs have had since last June to get the proper equipment or have the present equipment modified."

OUT TWO MONTHS

Mohs and Horvath, injured in Toronto Saturday night, will be lost to the Bruins for about two months.

Campbell said a pad was put on the market last year which in his opinion was illegal. He couldn't see it then because there was nothing in the rules to warrant it being banned.

Meanwhile, the rules committee last June declared these particular pads illegal.

INSPECTION MISSED

"Everybody has known it since June," said Campbell. "Recently I sent warning notices to the clubs drawing attention to the rule and saying referee-in-chief Carl Voss or I would inspect equipment."

Campbell said equipment of five clubs had been inspected but there hadn't been opportunity so far to inspect Toronto's.

He said his information on the injuries to the Boston players is that Mohs' injury was caused by an elbow—there was a penalty at the time. But it hadn't been established yet, he said, that Horvath's injury was from an elbow.

Hoop Picture Slightly Fuzzy

By IAN SMITH

The Victoria College men's basketball situation remains relatively muddy and obscure.

But out of the uncertainty arises one fact—the first double-bill of the season will be presented Friday at Mt. View High School gymnasium.

Starring will be the latest edition of the Vikings, this year a Senior "A" team for the first time. This team, essentially the same as the one that captured the Canadian junior basketball title last year, will be playing the strong Alberni Athletics at 8:30.

As a preliminary, the Junior Vikings — also a strong team on paper — will meet the Esquimalt High School Dockers at 7:30.

By the time the games are over, fans will have a fair idea of the relative strength of the college teams.

But only a fair idea — it will be first game for both Viking squads and the first time that the team members have had a chance to work as a unit. And, to further complicate matters, the Junior Vikings are still looking for a coach.

Fred Martens of the College staff is presently handling the team, but he hopes to find another mentor for the unit shortly.

Martens has another problem. The Norsemen, third men's hoop team, was also without a coach going into their first game this afternoon against Mount View High.

There is yet another problem, facing all three squads—finding adequate competition through the season.

MAIN PROBLEM

Last year, when the Vikings were prepping for the junior championships, they warmed up in the Senior "B" League. But this year no such circuit has been formed.

Right now, though, the main problem is in finding two coaches and winning Friday's games.

In strip for the senior Vikings will be Bob Tomlinson, Ken McCulloch, Cyril Foster, Waldo Skillings, Dave Skillings (Waldo's younger brother), Rol Fieldwalker, Jim Wilson, Terry Clark, Doug Flynn, Mike Solstice, Ed Kowalyk and Willie Wong.

Expected to spark the Junior Vikings are Jack Showers, George Brice, Dick Sparkes, Don Farquhar and Trevor Gibson.

Also in action this weekend will be the College swim team, scheduled to compete in the annual Greater Victoria school swimming gala against area high school splashes.

While general opinion has conceded Oak Bay High the favorite's slot, the blue-and-gold swimmers will be battling hard in an effort to cop second place for the first time. Usually the College has to accept third position behind Victoria High, but this year coach Mike Deane is entertaining thoughts of beating the Vics.

College has lost several of its best splashes, notably Janice Jackson, Bob Proven, Hamish Redford, and Roland Hawes, but newcomers Alice Genge and Denis Fieldwalker are expected to bolster the team considerably.

Also expected to collect points are Jon Stott, Deane and Roy Innes, who all did well last year.

Sheridan Stott, Joann Staggs and Theresa Allen will swim in the 50-yard freestyle event for women, while Fieldwalker, Innes and Don Erskine will carry the men's honors.

College teams fared poorly over the weekend, with the men's soccer squad going down to a 3-1 defeat at the hands of Venture and the men's rugby team bowing to JBAA, 22-8.

The women's "A" grass hockey team lost, 5-2, to St. Margaret's on Thursday despite an improved second half that saw them outscore their opponents, 2-1. The second squad were the victims of a 1-0 defeat Wednesday at the hands of Victoria High.

Scorers for the College were Miss Genge and Diana Lawrence.

This week the "A" team will play Oak Bay High on Thursday and Queen Margaret's School in Duncan. These games will determine team rosters for the year.

Gorge Vale Duos In Button Battle

By GRAHAM COX

It was a quiet weekend around the golf courses in the Victoria district.

Quiet, that is, except for those who chose to battle wind and rain for a few rounds of shot-making.

Numbered among the braver ones was golf scribe Harry Young.

For Harry, it was a banner week; one to put in his memory scrapbook and salt away for perusal before a friendly fire.

After 40 years of trying, Harry scored a hole-in-one. He turned the trick with a five-iron Saturday at Victoria Golf Club's 125-yard eighth hole.

Not even the rain that followed could dampen the spirits after that, although he took his group through the other 10 holes of the layout before bowing to tradition.

The rain did dampen the plans for the Victoria club turkey match Saturday and the event has been set over to next Saturday with the hope of better weather.

With a swing to better weather Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barrie stroked their way to a two-ball foursome win over Mr. and Mrs. Colin Hart.

At Uplands, of course, Sunday was the day the city open buttons changed hands again, with the victory of Bill Wake-

Can Soccer 'Bulldozer' Level Russian Defence?

LONDON (AP) — England tackles Russia at Wembley Stadium Wednesday with an old soccer score to settle.

It was Russia who knocked England out of the World Cup in Sweden. The English are anxious to get revenge for the defeat that sent this country's soccer prestige slumping.

The man the England selectors have picked as their key man in the needle game is 33-year-old Nat Lofthouse. He's back as England centre forward for the first time in 29 months.

The selectors think Lofthouse, a publican in his spare time and Bolton Wanderers' soccer captain, is just the man to bulldoze his way through the iron-clad Russian defence.

Lofthouse missed England's three previous games against Russia this year. So he goes into Wednesday's match as a newcomer to the Russians. They'll find him a thrustful leader, a centre forward capable of turning half a chance into a goal and a player who never stops trying.

The match will be the first the full Russian team has played in England. Last May, England and Russia played to 1-1 draw in Boston. In June, in the World Cup in Sweden, the teams played a 2-2 tie. Then Russia won the decisive 1-0 to determine who went into the quarter finals of the World Cup.

The Russians will find another livewire, in addition to Lofthouse, in the England attack — inside forward Bobby Charlton. Charlton was on England's squad for the World Cup series.

Handicap Golf Win

Mrs. Ken Lawson carded an 82 Monday to capture low gross honors in the Uplands Golf Club ladies' division 15- and under handicap tournament.

She also tied, at 75, with Mrs. Jean Massey for low net.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW ON RED CHINA

agriculture," and 2. birth control, the "great leap" backward in babies.

The "great leap" is Communist jargon for the most gigantic mobilization of manpower in history. By comparison the building of the Pyramids of Cheops and the Great Wall of China were ambitious doodles.

China claims her food grain production was tripled in the past two years. Few Westerners believe this.

"The more people we have, the more workers we have to produce food and industrial products," the Peiping economist went on. "Our food production is increasing more rapidly than our population. In Western countries I know you have decreases in food production and loss by soil erosion. We have no room for such things in China."

(One could almost hear the voice of Malthus: "Yes, yes, they said that to me but they did not calculate that the population increases by geometric ratio while the food supply increases only by mathematical ratio.")

Every doctor I met in farm and factory clinic told me frankly he gave birth control advice to the women. I prodded one doctor facetiously: "And the men, they co-operate?"

The doctor replied very seriously: "This is a voluntary decision. It is a problem never yet conquered in China."

A doctor lectured on birth control in the Worker's Palace of Culture at Peiping, giving specific directions. At the conclusion the chairman thanked him and added: "But this does not apply to us. We're all married."

Barefoot Women

What is the picture on these farms which must do the impossible in order that Red China may "lead forward"? It's sweating, bare-backed men swinging heavy hoes . . . barefoot women cutting heads of rice by hand . . . wispy bearded oldsters using wooden rakes and pitchforks . . . children winnowing grain with the help of the wind . . . wiry men straining to pull a wooden plow because they had no donkey or cow . . . patient peasants pumping irrigation water by treadmill.

The lack of machinery is appalling; not once did I get close enough to a working tractor to take a picture.

Never did I see one man in a field. More often it was 50 or 100. What human muscle can accomplish, multiply by 300 or 400 million and you have a rough idea of what Red China is doing down on the farm.

How much food do the farms turn out? On a farm co-operative near Peiping where 1,602 workers farm 1,661 acres, they say they produced 250 bushels of wheat per acre and then grew a crop of sweet potatoes.

A co-op near Shenyang said they got 200 per cent more food production this year than last by jumping irrigated acres from 600 to 1,600 acres. Although their harvest averaged 105 bushels of food grains per acre this year, their goal next year is 440 bushels per acre because "of the workers' determination to resist American aggression."

A vegetable co-operative near Shanghai says they harvest from 12 to 21 crops of vegetables a year. A commune near Hankow told me their two crops of rice made 225 bushels per acre. Their cotton was 360 pounds per acre, but next year's cotton goal is 1,800 pounds per acre.

China claims its fantastic yields this year are built on three things: More irrigation, more double cropping, more fertilizer, and deep plowing.

"Water long has been known to peasants as China's sorrow—something to get rid of as quickly as possible," a Red farm planner told me. "We decided to use it. In the Old China we irrigated 39.4 million acres. Last year 85.8 million acres. And this year 160.2 million acres, or 55 per cent of our total acreage."

Swarm Like Apts

Weary peasants ordinarily take a month off at Chinese New Year's in February. This year more than 200 million people, swarming like ants, dug canals, built dams and reservoirs, made terraces on mountainsides. The farm force was augmented by millions of office and factory workers, artists and writers, movie actors and bureaucrats because the new Chinese Communist line is that everyone must do some hard physical labor.

Their tools: big hoes to dig; baskets slung on a springy carrying pole to carry the dirt. Their results: They claim their irrigated acreage jumped by a whopping 74 million acres.

China never has wasted anything that fertilized the soil and the new state's willow baskets and twig brooms are even more efficient than the old's.

Graveyards: Help

Even the graveyards contribute. The once-revered bones of ancestors now help boost 1958 yields.

Of chemical fertilizer, I saw little. And the only fertilizer factory I visited wouldn't give production figures. Every other factory seemed happy to boast of its progress. China is importing all the fertilizer she can afford to buy and trying to buy fertilizer plants and equipment abroad.

Peasants are being urged to make chemical fertilizer in backyard factories—no job for amateurs. One slight mistake with nitrates—Chinese fireworks!

I predict that fertilizer shortage will grow worse, since I saw nutrient shortages in corn, soybeans and rice.

Plow Deep

Deep plowing in China's valleys is giving the yields a shot in the arm. But because one commune vowed to plow 18 inches deep, as answer to the "American imperialists," the neighboring co-op is not to be outdone.

"We plowed some of our land three and a half feet deep," boasted one farm chairman. And how? By human brawn, hoes and spades!

Experimental plots have given the Chinese a great psychological boost. Each farm was encouraged to see how much it could raise on a test plot of rice, sorghum, cotton and tobacco.

I was quoted yield figures on some plots I saw which my farm brothers are going to read and say: "Somebody's lying—that's impossible!" For example: Corn, 3,850 bushels per acre, when the top recorded U.S. yield is 300 bushels per acre. Wheat, 1,100 bushels per acre, when world record is 230 bushels.

Most fantastic claim of all: On a commune near Tientsin, I saw a rice plot estimated to yield 11,000 bushels per acre. They had jammed rice sprouts at the rate of 360,000 to the acre, root to root.

MANHOLE MOVER Sadder, Wiser — $35 POORER

Taking the lids off manholes in the middle of the night brought a $35 fine for William H. Petty, RCN, in Esquimalt police court Monday.

The man was charged with endangering the public by taking the covers from sidewalk meter manholes on Admirals Road at 12:25 a.m. Oct. 7.

"I'd been drinking that night, sir," Petty told the court.

"That's no reason to endanger the life of the public," Magistrate H. C. Hall commented.

Brief Knife-Riot Quelled

KINGSTON (CP) — Four convicts at Kingston penitentiary faced possible strappings and solitary confinement today for a half-hour uprising Monday in which they held two unarmed guards and a hospital officer hostages at knife-point. It was the third violent incident in the penitentiary area outside this Lake Ontario city in little more than two months.

The four convicts, one a convicted murderer, were working in a toy repair shop in the main prison yard with four other prisoners. They seized guards Cecil M. Trees, Frank Correia and James Sellers, a hospital officer, and held knives against their throats.

It is believed the four planned an escape attempt but when an alarm system sounded they barricaded themselves in the toy shop, one of the prison's occupational therapy projects. They surrendered when guards broke down two doors.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city court Monday: Kathleen Routh, 3740 Epsom, $35 and licence suspension for careless driving.

Stanley Frederick Blundell, William Head, $15 for failing to yield right of way in a pedestrian crossing while school patrol flags are displayed.

The British Columbia cabinet will be asked for a grant to match public contributions and a Canada Council grant of $300,000—already guaranteed—will be claimed.

The decisions were arrived at Monday night at a meeting of Victoria College Council and a Victoria Chamber of Commerce sub-committee on university affairs.

The meeting agreed to begin dealings for purchase of Gordon Head property now owned by the federal government. This was earlier recommended as a Deputy public works minister Arnold Webb said cost of placing additions on the present site would be $3,350,000, where a move to Gordon Head might cost up to $7,000,000. Mr. Webb is chairman of the committee.

But more ground would be needed if the college were not moved and it would be difficult to provide room for sports fields. Library and science buildings are planned at the present site.

'Heat's On'; Drug Addicts Moving East

TORONTO (UPI) — Police said today they arrested four women believed part of an influx of suspected drug addicts migrating here from Vancouver.

Eighteen capsules alleged to contain heroin were seized when one of the women was picked up. Police said the "heat" has been on in Vancouver and the addicts have moved east again.

Arrested were Norma MacDonald, 33; Jean Gillis, 26; Jean Cooper, 38, and Marlene Harrison, 26.

Full Auditorium Study Urged Before Vote by Ratepayers

Strong plea for full investigation of the proposed civic auditorium was urged by Reeve A. C. Wurtel at a meeting of Esquimalt Council Monday night.

"I don't think it is right to go before the people without every detail of this project," he said, seeking council's approval to act on an inter-municipal steering committee.

The reeve said the committee is scheduled to hold talks with Premier W. A. C. Bennett or Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

He told council full details of size, construction, use and subsequent maintenance cost should be fully investigated before any commitment is made.

"I don't want to throw cold water on the project," he said, "but we want to know all about it before we proceed."

Council unanimously endorsed the reeve's report.

Council rejected a suggestion by the inter-municipal committee that cost of a float to be entered in the Grey Cup parade in Vancouver be shared between the municipalities.

"It's Community Chest time," said Coun. Vincent Rush, and if there's any money to spare let's keep it at home."

Council granted the Esquimalt Lions Club permission to build and supervise a Halloween bonfire for children of the municipality.

DISTANCE FLIER FAILS AGAIN

YAKUTAT, Alaska (AP)—Hard luck hit distance flier Charles F. Banfe, Jr., again Monday and he landed here after making only 240 miles of a planned nonstop flight from Cordova, Alaska, to New York.

Icing conditions caused Banfe to stop. He reported he was unable to climb above 4,500 feet.

Banfe, of Palo Alto, Calif., took off from Cordova Monday after spending the weekend there. He was forced down at Cordova Friday night less than halfway on a projected 7,022-mile Tokyo-Miami flight in which he sought to set a distance mark for single engine planes.

Trustees Apply For Title To School Site

Greater Victoria School Board Monday decided to make formal application for title to the property on which it plans to build the new Hampton Elementary school.

The property is owned by Saanich municipality which informed the board by letter that although it reserved the site for school purposes it did not propose to hand it over "free of charge."

Auditorium Backing In Saanich—'If'

Two Saanich councillors will support a proposal that Saanich use its share of Capital District Improvement Commission grants for a civic auditorium if the plans for developing the Gyro Cadboro Bay Park are not abandoned.

Councillors Charles Nelles and Leslie Passmore, at a council meeting Monday night, favored a Greater Victoria auditorium but not if it completely prejudiced the development of a $400,000 beach park at Cadboro Bay.

"I would support the project if we can find $46,000 to buy additional land for expanding the park," said Coun. Nelles. "Once we have the land we can concentrate on constructing an auditorium and develop the park at a later date."

The two councillors expressed their views after Reeve George Chatterton told council that the inter-municipal committee had suggested that the four municipalities forego their CIDC grants and the money used to

Dieppe Raid Called 'Waste' Of Canadians

OTTAWA (CP)—American military historian Samuel Eliot Morison says the Dieppe raid was a British waste of Canadian manpower.

In his book, "Strategy and Compromise," published this year, Prof. Morison writes:

"From the time America entered the war, the joint chiefs of staff worked for 16 months before they could obtain the consent of their British opposite numbers to set up the cross-channel assault that finally took place, very successfully, in 1944, and whose direct consequence was the defeat of Germany."

"In order to persuade the British chiefs of staff to agree to this, the United States had to take part more or less unwillingly in a series of Mediterranean campaigns and to stand idly by while the British wasted their manpower and Canada's on hit-and-run raids such as those at St. Nazaire and Dieppe."

Asked by The Canadian Press to elaborate on this view, Prof. Morison says in a letter:

"My statement about Dieppe is based on the fact that the raid had no real purpose."

"The reason usually given for the raid was that it was to gain experience for the future large-scale operations (the Normandy invasion)."

"... It was merely a hit-and-run raid with very limited objectives which, in my opinion, did not justify the effort put into it."

Roofing Firm Agent Guilty Of Theft

John Proby, 42, of 444 Standard, was found guilty in Criminal Assize Court Monday afternoon of stealing $520 by conversion in connection with a home improvement loan.

He was remanded in custody for sentence by Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes.

Proby, it was stated, had been employed as an agent for the Penfold Roofing Co. Ltd. of Vancouver and had failed to turn over two cheques totalling $520 to the company, crediting them to his own bank account instead.

James Proudfoot, appearing for Proby, said he had intended paying the money to the Vancouver head office of Penfold Roofing Ltd., and would have done so if he had not been arrested on another charge.

Mr. Proudfoot asked Proby: "How much business have you written for Mr. Penfold between Jan. 22 and July 8?"

Proby replied: "At least $30,000. Thousands were turned into Penfold Roofing without any question."

Proby said he advised Mr. Penfold he had lost $100 out of his own pocket and Mr. Penfold suggested he had been on "a drunk."

"That was not so," Proby said.

TRAFFIC FINES

In Esquimalt police court Monday:

Edward G. Gray, Duncan, $100 for driving while under suspension and $35 for failing to state name and address on request of police.

Louis Morisseau, RCN, $25 for driving without a licence and $10 for failing to have B.C. licence plates.

Jerauld D. Lien, RCN, $35 and licence suspension until insured, for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Lawrence P. George, Milnes Landing, $25 for violation of driver's licence restriction.

Mary M. Burr, 339 Island Highway, $20 for speeding over 30, $10 for failing to stop at a stop sign and $10 for failing to stop at a red light.

Alfred Joseph Reeve, RCN, $25 for driving without a licence.

... HERE AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Auto salesmen are pretty slow on the ball in the opinion of Walter Graves, president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards of the United States.

Visiting Victoria from his home in Philadelphia, Mr. Graves told me he had often thought of buying a second car because the one he owns is "too good" for a two-mile trip to and from the railway station every day.

"Not a single auto salesman has approached me with this idea," he snorted. "They just haven't got round to it."

Men are promoted not as a reward for past performance, but in expectation of future performance — B.C. Electric Buzz, Victoria.

Retirement seems to agree with Evan Jones, until recently deputy highways minister in the provincial government.

Evan was looking fine when I bumped into him on Government Street Monday afternoon.

"It's taken me a lifetime to find out I'm really a lazy guy," he said. "I enjoy doing nothing."

That, of course, is an exaggeration. Evan is a keen gardener and has many interests — among them a lively continuing interest in the highways department and his old chief Phil Gaglardi.

Watching a popular English movie at the Royal Theatre ... leaning forward and cupping my ear to catch what a soft-spoken character is saying.

Out of the shadows, a lovely dark-eyed ushette inquiring: "Sir, can I get you a hearing aid?"

STREET NAMES SOUGHT AMONG CITY NOTABLES

Compilation of a list of notable Victoria citizens now dead for use in naming new streets was recommended by city public works committee today.

As a first step, the committee endorsed a proposal by Ald. Hugh Ramsay to name a new street after A. J. Morley, a former mayor who died recently.

The name of Morley Crescent will be given a cul de sac off Redfern, between Quamichan and Brighton, if acceptable to the post office department.

"I think that is a good idea," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow. "I think we should recommend that the Victoria Historical Society compile a suitable list of names for future streets."

"We should also ask the public to send in names of persons they feel worthy to have a street named after them."

The recommendation will go to city council for approval.

Aldermen Study Debenture Plan For Parking Lots

Stores Would Pay For Land Purchase

City public works committee may seek legislation to raise money for purchasing off-street parking lots through local improvement debentures.

But a request to Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black for the legislation will not be made until after presentation of an over-all traffic and parking plan to be presented by the city engineer's department next month, it decided today.

If the power is obtained, the city could require downtown merchants in the vicinity of city-owned off-street parking lots to contribute to the land purchase through local debentures.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, who suggested the power be sought, said it was the only fair means of raising the money to buy the lots. He said if general revenue was used, many old-age pensioners who do not have cars would be contributing to improvement of the business area.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said Mr. Black should not be approached until the plan is presented and discussed with the downtown merchants' association.

HAVE POWER

City engineer James Garnett said district municipalities, such as Saanich, now have the power to use local debentures for the purpose and "all we're asking is that cities get the same power."

Ald. Hugh Ramsay argued that a commission should be set up to operate the lots on a self-sufficient basis. Mr. Garnett said this would be done, but the initial purchase of land would have to be undertaken by the city.

Committee also was told that the over-all traffic plan will include recommendations to overcome congestion on Fort.

Ald. Edgelow said the off-centre line was creating confusion for incoming traffic on Fort.

Traffic engineer Norman Worsley argued the off-centre line should be retained.

"We are trying to encourage motorists to drive into the downtown area via Yates and out of the area via Fort," he said.

Three More Break-Ins Keep Police on Move

MAINLAND PAIR JAILED IN UP-ISLAND BURGLARY

Two Vancouver men were sentenced to four years and two years, respectively, in Campbell River Monday for breaking and entering in which they made off with a safe from Campbellton Pharmacy which contained about $100.

The entry was made shortly after midnight Sunday.

Sentenced to four years was Thomas David Laverick, and to two years, Lawrence W. Robert.

RCMP, alerted to the crime, set up a road block at Black River, 14 miles south of Campbell River, and the pair were apprehended about 3 a.m. as they headed south. The safe, broken open, was in the rear of the vehicle.

The thieves had broken into a construction firm to obtain the tools with which they forced entry into the pharmacy, police said.

Amateurs Blamed In Rash of Crime

Burglars forced their way into three Victoria business firms overnight, bringing to four the number of places entered since Saturday.

The work appeared to be done by amateurs.

Culprits inexpertly pried the handle from a walk-in vault without opening it at one of the three firms entered Monday, took 50 cents from another, then missed $18 at the third.

Collison Paper Co. Ltd., 2613 Quadra; Bayliss Neon Sign Co. Ltd., 2519 Rock Bay, and Economy Steam Laundry Ltd., 607 John, were entered through skylights.

Amateur safecrackers failed in a try to break into a safe at Pacific Meat Co. Ltd., 537 Chatham, when they were disturbed by an employee Saturday night.

$18 OVERLOOKED

Apparently nothing was stolen from Collison Paper, where the vault handle was removed and several drawers pried open and ransacked, nor from Bayliss Neon, where $18 is an unlocked safe was overlooked.

Fifty cents was taken from the laundry.

Skylights were broken at the paper company and neon shop, but at the laundry entry was by way of an unlocked skylight.

FUTILE

In the Saturday night job an attempt to blow the safe — containing cheques and a small amount of cash — proved futile and the would-be cracksmen tried to cut a hole in the door with an acetylene torch. Again they blundered, police pointed out, by using a welding jet rather than a cutting tip on the torch.

Employee Bert Pritchard smelled smoke after hearing someone leave the building, followed his nose and discovered the safe with a nearly-completed circle burned around the dial.

CLOSED SHOP FACES DEBATE BY SOCREDS

Proposals for new labor legislation ruling out "closed shop" union membership, are expected at the B.C. Social Credit convention at Vancouver Oct. 31.

The convention will be held at Georgia Auditorium and will last two days.

Victoria association president, Ald. E. D. McEwen, said the city will send 25 delegates.

12 Victorians Pass Exams For Accountants

Twelve Victorians are among students from throughout the province who have passed examinations of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of B.C.

First place in primary accounting, auditing and English, was won by Michael Carr, 23, of Vancouver.

Victoria students successful in this section are: D. E. Atkinson, B. L. Henderson, R. W. Johnson, C. R. Moir, C. D. Moore and G. G. Roper.

John Edward Judge, 33, of Terrace, led all students in primary accounting and auditing. Pass marks went to Victoria students W. D. Bradshaw, C. F. Goodwin and E. W. Large.

Three Victoria men passed the English exam. They are: J. A. Carmichael, T. C. Rimmer and G. R. Sills.

Mounties Got Their Man — Mixed Up

RCMP got their man, the wrong one, into court today. Then they temporarily "lost" a prisoner.

John Proby, of Victoria, found guilty in Assize Court Monday of theft, was brought in when he wasn't due to appear. He had been remanded for sentence.

Then Robert Stadler, also Victoria, facing two charges of false pretences and intent to defraud involving building materials totalling $875, allegedly obtained from Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd., was escorted into Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes' chambers by a court official for a brief pre-trial consultation.

Two RCMP men, who had stepped out briefly, took a second or two on return to the courtroom to realize where their prisoner had gone.

Stadler, represented by J. A. Byers, entered a not-guilty plea on both counts.

The fraud was alleged to have taken place May 26 this year. The trial is continuing.

Salmon Run Shelter Sought By Solarium Junior League

An appeal has gone out from the Solarium Junior League for the loan of a tent or prefabricated structure.

Each year the League sets up coffee urns and a hot dog stand at Goldstream for the benefit of thousands of people watching the salmon run.

For the past five years a roomy cabin has been their base but now it has been torn down, leaving the volunteer workers stranded.

A league spokesman said that due to the probable cold and wet weather some form of protection is essential.

The tent or portable shelter would have to be capable of easy erection and dismantling, the spokesman said, since fear of vandals would force them to remove it each night.

The rocket will pass in a north to northeast direction at 3.43 a.m. and again at 5.31, travelling northwest to southwest.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

An Old Story Incredibly New

KAMLOOPS — It is a great pity that one of the sublime and climactic events of our centennial year will be seen by so few British Columbians.

This is the "Salute to the Sockeye," which was supposed to end officially Sunday, but will probably reach its peak in a week or so.

We drove out through the Mesa country, 50 miles north of Kamloops, yesterday to the Adams River, where the salmon are coming home to die.

The Adams River was chosen for the salute because it has in this 100th year produced one of the greatest sockeye runs on record.

Less than a dozen persons watched from a bridge as hordes of the fish, garish red in their death throes, struggled to resolve the ancient and mysterious drama of their life cycle.

Almost identical in size, many bearing the scars of their relentless upstream battle, they huddled in surreal array in quiet eddies, summoning up their strength for the last desperate encounter with the swiftly-rushing water and the menacing rocks.

The story is ever old and wonderfully, incredibly new — how they had been out to sea for three years, lost to the scientists, and now with unerring instinct were making their way back to the very shoal whence they had sprung.

They seemed to come in pairs — the female to rustle her bustle and make a gravel nest for her eggs, which would be fertilized with the milt of the male.

In sudden, neon-lit, submarine flashes, rival males would tangle, come to the surface with their snouts locked, and exact from their aching bodies the strength for an ultimate defence of honor.

This wriggling death-march is a sight to remember. For at this remote testing-ground there is a timeless mystery, a rare courage and a conquest of obstacles in which man may recognize the profound challenges of life itself.

Armed Services Chest Gifts Zoom $1,500 Past Objective

Armed services contributions this year to the Community Chest have gone past the objective with an $11,500 total donation, chairman of the Chest's public services division, William Yardley, said today.

The objective was $10,000.

"We are extremely pleased," he said.

Executive secretary of the Chest, A. G. Gilmore, said in the last few hours $3,400 had been received from Yarrows Ltd. employees and $1,500 from federal government employees.

Tentative total now stands at $162,350 of the $300,000 objective.

AUTHENTIC REPLICAS of flags used in Admiral Nelson's historic hoist 153 years ago today flew on Legislative Buildings pole, spelled out message: "England expects that every man will do his duty." Surrounded by the beautiful things she loves, in a gift shop she started in this city a number of years ago, Mrs. Grace Harris celebrated a birthday last Saturday. Fighting back to health after a severe stroke, Mrs. Harris was brought to the store by friends from Rockland Nursing Home for the quiet party. A specially iced and decorated birthday cake, at left, was cut. Mrs. Harris has many friends in this city and in other parts of North America. Prior to coming to Victoria she had gift shops (under the same name) in Calgary and in Atlanta, Ga. She is noted for her many kindnesses to her friends.

Marriage Vows in Naval Chapel

Baskets of white and pink chrysanthemums decorated the chapel in HMCS Naden for the wedding of Miss Sandra Eleanor Watson and David George McNab. The Presbyterian chaplain, Rev. C. H. MacLean officiated and the organist was Miss A. Thompson. Soloist, Miss E. Pollock sang "At Dawning."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Watson of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. McNab of Victoria. A waltz-length gown of white tiered French lace over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her wedding. A small pearl crown held the finger-tip veil and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. She was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. A. D. Rayburn, matron of honor, and Miss Lynn McNab, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of bronze chiffon velvet with feather hats and carried nosegays of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Rennie L. Major was best man and the ushers were Russell A. Watson and Robert Descoteau.

A reception was held in the Saltire Room at Holyrood House where A. Dudley Rayburn proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier cake was centred on a table that was covered with an ecru Queen Anne lace cloth.

Burmese Women Have Joint Ownership of Property

OTTAWA (CP) — Although the working-wife trend is spreading to Burma, Daw Mya Win still wonders how North American women can combine careers, husbands, babies and homes.

The wife of Burma's first ambassador to Canada, Thado Maha Thray Sithu U Win told a reporter she has noticed that "the woman is independent" in marriages in this continent. "In eastern culture women are more respectful," she said. But a Burmese marriage is definitely a partnership—husband and wife are joint owners of all property acquired during their marriage.

The Wins were making their first official visit to Ottawa. They live in Washington, since Mr. Win has the dual role of ambassador to both the United States and Canada.

The home in Washington is a "little bit of Burma," said one of the ambassador's secretaries. Mrs. Win, wearing a native costume—a sheer blouse and a long, wrap-around skirt—explained that in Washington she has Burmese servants, pictures, silverware and lacquerware, and Burmese food is served every day.

A room in the Washington embassy also has been set aside as a "shrine room," where, a visiting Buddhist priest holds meetings.

For Regiment — A sum of $1,000 was voted to the Canadian Scottish Regiment by the Ladies' Auxiliary which met recently with Mrs. M. Beddington presiding. Plans were made for a children's party to be held in December. Guest speaker was Kenneth Shore, from Seven Oaks School for emotionally disturbed children.

L'Alliance Francaise, Wednesday at 8 p.m., in St. Jean Baptiste church hall, 301 Richmond Avenue. Guest speaker, Rev. Pere Gaston Fournier of France; subject, "The Life of Charles de Foucault."

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Mayo Clinic—Dr. A. W. Perry gave a talk on his recent trip to the Mayo Clinic and discussed new drugs and treatments employed in internal medicine at a meeting of Victoria District Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia, held in St. Joseph's Hospital. Miss J. Jamieson appealed for assistance from registered nurses to instruct in her home nursing class Wednesday and Thursday of each week. Miss E. Wright gave a report on an executive meeting of the Future Nurses' Club at which eight groups from district high schools were represented. Sister Mary Beatrice was named chairman of the nominating committee.

Gift-Fashion Show — Plans were discussed at meeting of Victoria Jaycee-Ettes for the gift and fashion show for men and women, the group will hold in conjunction with the 700 Block Yates Street on Nov. 12 and 13 at Club Sirocco. Refreshments will be served and comic relief entertainment provided. As an added feature a man's and a woman's wardrobe will be given away each night to a couple in attendance, as well as other door prizes. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Jaycee-Ettes or at any store in the 700 Block Yates Street Association. Proceeds will go to Jaycee-Ettes charities.

Rummage Sale — Arrangements were made at meeting of

$45,000.00 Worth of Antique and Modern Home Furnishings Going by Auction at MAYNARD'S on Wed., Thurs., Fri.

One of the most interesting auctions in recent times will be at Maynard's huge salerooms this week. A sneak preview was most interesting. Furs, jewellery, about 100 beautiful oil paintings, a baby grand, a unique Dulcitone 37 inches long, a collection of Oriental works of art with two outstanding pieces of Satsuma, teak dining furniture, a $900.00 French Provincial down-filled drawing room suite, Georgian dining furniture, a huge collection of fine Scotch crystal tableware, carpets, twin bedroom suites, expensive dictaphone, TV sets, major appliances, maple furniture, Chinese dolls, old lace, in fact, for those interested in either modern or antique household needs, the sale seems endless, it even includes a 1958 English station wagon.

Auction commences promptly at 7.30 each evening. Preview is until 9 Tuesday night and all day Wednesday.

Mr. Roberts stated that although the main salerooms are considered, by visitors to the city, to be the largest and most up to date in Canada, facilities have been taxed to the limit for the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, for a rummage sale to be held in Orange Hall, Courtney Street, next Friday at 7 p.m. Mrs. Ann Fouracre presided; Mrs. Reta Nickerson reported on activities of members at the Welcome Room for elderly people of the city and Mrs. Mae Brown was named press convener.

Centennial — Willard E. Ireland, provincial archivist, recently gave the Engineers' Wives' Association talk on activities of the B.C. Centennial Committee. Meeting was held in the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Keith Dixon and thanked by Mrs. W. E. Rolls. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. N. A. Magrath, Mrs. Rolls, Mrs. M. L. Zirul, Mrs. K. Reid, Mrs. J. W. Warr and Mrs. J. B. Hedley.

RIVERFRONTAGE UP ISLAND

This beautiful fairland, 20 magnificent acres with its own river, meanders by the banks of a silvery rippling river. Here, in deep woods and under shady ledges are some of the finest steelhead and trout on the island. Game trails abound. Timber is second growth, ground is mostly level and the property readily accessible from a good highway. Its location is close enough to town and offers one of the best buys whether business, residential or investment, is the discriminating purchaser and the astute investor. This is a rare opportunity and from personal inspection is highly recommended. An exclusive listing full price $11,000. Terms will consider Victoria property in exchange. Geo. 'Reserve' Proposal Put Before Sloan

Half Crown Sales Should Be Offered To Non-Licence Holders, Says Lawyer

Half the volume of crown timber sales should be offered lumber producers who do not hold tree farm licences, a royal commission on forestry was told Monday.

The suggestion was made before forestry adviser Gordon Sloan who is conducting final sessions of a lengthy hearing at Empress Hotel. The commission was established to determine whether tree farm licence holders have an unfair advantage in bidding for crown timber.

Dr. Orchard did not think tree farm licence holders had an "unfair" advantage over other timber bidders. They only "have an advantage accrued through foresight and good business management, but nothing unfair."

Mr. Braidwood argued that the meaning of the word advantage implies any advantage is unfair.

Dr. Orchard felt the present system of tree farm licences assures the government a fair return.

"I believe the government is getting all the timber is worth."

OBLIGATIONS

He said if there is any advantage to tree farm licence holders, it is more than paid for by obligations of the holders to provide reforestation services. They are limited in their cut and must protect their holdings from fire and insects.

These things are not demanded of lumber producers who do not hold tree farm licences but bid for crown timber.

The commission hearings, which began in June were to end Wednesday following final argument. However, absence of Vancouver lawyer Charles Brazier at Ottawa has made it necessary to hold a further one-day hearing at Vancouver Monday.

Pilotage Cruise For Two Frigates To Start Monday

Two frigates of the RCN Pacific Command will leave at 8:30 a.m. Monday on an 11-day pilotage cruise in B.C. waters.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION TONIGHT

CHEMAINUS—Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Porter, Seaview Road, today are celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

Married in Victoria in 1908, they were among the first to attend Anglican Church services in the district. Mr. Porter came here with his parents as a child in 1883, and his wife taught school at Westholme before their marriage.

She is the former Lily Ann Cummins.

They have four children, twins Charles and Robert in Chemainus; Mrs. W. Mitchell, Vancouver; and Miss Kathleen Porter, Victoria.

They will be at home to their friends this evening.

Diabetic Gives Up Licence After Coma-Caused Crashes

Frederick Charles Chivers, the man guilty, but suspended sentence, 338 Dallas Road, volunteered to surrender his driver's licence in city police court Monday.

He also ordered suspension of licence for an indefinite period.

He was found guilty of careless driving in connection with an accident on Dallas Road in which his car sideswiped a parked car.

He told the court he was in diabetic coma at the time and had been in a similar accident two months previously. He was then given another chance to drive by the Motor Vehicles Branch, which had suspended his licence, he said.

"I realize now I am not capable of driving and I am prepared to surrender my licence," Chivers said.

DULLES IN FORMOSA

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles inspects troops at Taipei, Formosa, today, with Nationalist Chinese honor guard commander. Later Dulles began talks with Premier Chiang Kai-Shek. (AP Wirephoto.)

Dulles Opens Talks — 'No Arm-Twisting'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles opened his conference today against a backdrop of renewed cannonading of Quemoy. After a 2½-hour meeting between Dulles and Chiang, a U.S. state department spokesman said "Mr. Dulles is not here to twist anybody's arm or apply any heat or pressure." While the talks progress, the Chinese Communists sent their shore guns into action for the second day, but on a much lighter scale. The defence ministry said up to noon only 362 shells had hit Quemoy, compared with more than 11,500 Monday. But there was no doubt the relationship of mutual trust and confidence of the two countries as allies.

The Red action stiffened Nationalist opposition to any such reduction of forces, however. Dulles, on arrival, said his talks with Chiang "are not aimed at reaching any new agreements."

Stukus Scores In Meeting With Chiang

VANCOUVER (CP) — President Chiang Kai-Shek of Nationalist China has told a Vancouver Sun reporter there is no danger of world war as long as the Nationalists hold the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. The private interview, a rarity, was reported today by Annis Stukus, the newspaper's football editor and former coach of the B.C. Lions, who has been writing a series of articles on the Formosan situation during a special, off-beat assignment.

Stukus said the interview was granted because "I am the lone Canadian newspaper man among 72 foreign correspondents on Formosa."

He quoted Chiang as saying: "The battle of Quemoy proved that as long as we hold the offshore islands there is no danger of war involving either the United States or the world."

Stukus' account apparently was written before the renewal of shelling by the Reds.

Over and over I asked the questions during my 7,500-mile trip across Red China, visiting farms in the major food-producing areas. Invariably the answers exuded the brash confidence of one fertilizer factory engineer who boasted:

"We can feed 15 billion people if we have to."

China has two secret weapons for dealing with what must surely be the biggest food problem any nation ever faced: 1, the "great leap forward" plan.

Lawyer Asks Sommers Acquittal

Defence Ends In Bribe Trial

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lawyer Angelo Branca today called for the unconditional acquittal of "former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers as he wound up the defence in the marathon bribery-conspiracy trial."

The counsel for the 47-year-old former minister told an assize court jury that Sommers deserved their recommendation, not their condemnation.

Mr. Branca said it would be "most dangerous indeed" for the jury to accept the evidence of the crown's chief witness.

He tabbed the witness, former Pacific Coast Services Limited bookkeeper Charles Eversfield, as a dishonest man whose testimony was in conflict with testimony of other witnesses, and who was even in conflict with the very records he had kept for the timber brokerage firm.

Mr. Branca, representing former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, suggested that if Eversfield had been an honest man he would have resigned from the Pacific firm when he became suspicious of illegal transactions.

SOUGHT MONEY

But he did not. Instead, he had taken documents from Pacific files knowing they would be most embarrassing because they recorded the transfer of funds to a minister of the crown.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield then formulated a plan to try to obtain some money from the Pacific firm.

The lawyer told the B.C. Supreme Court jury that Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson probably would instruct them as to Eversfield's position as an accomplice in the case. He anticipated his lordship would instruct the jury could convict on the evidence of an accomplice but it would be a dangerous thing to do.

"Why, Mr. Foreman and members of the jury, do something that is dangerous in law?" the lawyer asked.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield's dishonesty was shown by a document allegedly setting out a three-way split of funds. It was Eversfield, he said, who Continued on Page 2

'SOCIAL ELITE' PUBLISHER THREATENED

TORONTO (CP) — Nearly two dozen "threatening" telephone calls have been received by David B. Crombie, vice-president of the Social Register of Canada, since its publication was announced Friday.

Mr. Crombie said the calls, most of them during the weekend, accused him of "trying to foment a class war in Canada."

He said the callers made no specific threats but "there was a lot of hostility and they said nasty things I wouldn't care to repeat."

CUBAN REBELS KIDNAP 2 AMERICAN OIL MEN

HAVANA (AP) — Cuban rebels kidnapped two Americans and seven Cuban employees of the American-owned Texaco refinery at Santiago de Cuba Monday, and fled with them into mountain hideouts. The U.S. Embassy in Havana said the nine men were seized by a rebel band near the oil refinery around noon Monday. The motive for the kidnapping was not learned. The rebels last June kidnapped several other Americans and three Canadians. They were released unharmed.

TCA Charges Bid Invalid

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Air Lines charged today that Canadian Pacific Airlines did not comply with government regulations in its application for a share of TCA's transcontinental monopoly.

John G. Edison, counsel for the publicly-owned TCA, questioned whether CPA's bid should be treated seriously "if it doesn't comply with the rules."

His statement followed questioning of R. B. Phillips, CPA operations vice-president, who acknowledged that certain financial details required by the regulations had not been inserted in the application before the air transport board.

But Mr. Phillips added that all the information to back up his financial statements was available. If TCA really wanted the details, it could have asked for them some time ago.

"You didn't intend to supply the details unless TCA asked for them, despite the fact they are asked for in the regulations," Mr. Edison said.

PLANES OBSOLETE?

He suggested the seven Douglas DC-6B piston-driven aircraft, which CPA would use if it got its requested Vancouver-to-Montreal franchise, would be made obsolete in a few years by the turbo-prop Vanguard and the jets, such as the DC-8.

Mr. Phillips said he could not agree with that. CPA might not be in as good a competitive position with piston aircraft as with the faster planes, but the DC-6B would show good service for some time.

France Refuses To Join Atom Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A blunt warning by France that she will not feel bound by any U.S.-British-Soviet agreement to suspend nuclear weapon tests aroused fears today for the chances of the Geneva arms talks opening Oct. 31.

Julius Moch told them any agreement reached at Geneva would be "drawn up without the participation of France and not applying to her."

Later Cuba told the meeting that to outlaw nuclear weapons without a general disarmament agreement would give Russia a "green light for world conquest."

New Deadline Extension Asked

By PETE LOUDON

The Sons of Freedom Doukhobors' proposal to move to Russia is developing into "a farce," Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He made the statement as chances grew slim that the troublesome sect will leave Canada.

With the deadline for filing forms only 12 hours away, only 44 have been turned in.

It is reported the guiding committee of the sect now wishes to renegotiate terms of government assistance and is sending a new delegation to see Mr. Bonner today.

'NONSENSE'

"I don't think either the federal or provincial governments have to scurry around to participate in that type of nonsense," said Mr. Bonner. "This is reducing the matter to a farce."

He had no appointment with a delegation, he said.

A lawyer representing the sect had contacted the attorney-general Monday, outlining new proposals for financial aid.

Earlier, the two governments had promised to spend an estimated $2,000,000 in transportation and settlement assistance, if those wishing to leave Canada would sign forms giving up Canadian citizenship, effectively barring re-entry.

Mr. Bonner said: "That's not the way we can deal with this type of thing. We can't deal in this casual way on this short notice."

"This is a last-moment type of manoeuvre."

CONDITIONAL

He reminded the sect: "The minister of justice stated the governments' positions would be conditional upon filing of forms then signed by Oct. 21."

They are to be filed with government agents or immigration officials at Vancouver, Nelson, Grand Forks or Rossland.

"The day is not over yet, but I have not heard of any filings."

If evidence is shown that there has been insufficient time in certain cases, consideration has been given to another extension, but to no later than Nov. 15.

Ottawa Trip Considered By Bennett

Premier Bennett may go to Ottawa to further his campaign for increased federal aid to this province.

He said today B.C. will keep on applying for assistance in meeting 1958 forest fire costs, a federal waiver of a 10 per cent tax on new toll bridges, and a subsidy for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

He said at a press conference: "They (the federal government) can't see over the mountains."

Asked if there was any chance he would take his long-standing requests direct to the senior government, he replied: "There may be."

NO ANSWER

The premier confirmed there has been no answer to his August request for federal sharing of extraordinary forest fire fighting costs. He had asked Ottawa to pay 50 per cent of all costs above normal—which would have worked out at over $2,000,000.

Premier Bennett said "it is months" since he requested cancellation of the federal 10 per cent sales tax on materials going into new bridges.

"There has been no satisfaction from Ottawa regarding the PGE subsidy," he added. "We will keep on applying," he stated.

Premier to Holiday

Premier Bennett plans a short vacation at an unnamed resort around the end of this month.

He would tell reporters today was: "The premier doesn't want to be tired when he makes his decisions."

'Valuable Lesson' In Dieppe Raid

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
(See page 12)

OTTAWA — The Dieppe raid, far from being a "useless" operation was part of a combined Anglo-American-Canadian strategy that had far reaching effects on future invasion plans, producing valuable lessons for the planners.

This is the conclusion of experts here who have studied the Dieppe raid, including military historians and generals closely connected with the operation.

They took issue with American military historian Samuel Eliot Morison. He states in his book "Strategy and Compromise" that the Dieppe raid was a British waste of Canadian manpower.

Col. C. P. Stacey, official Canadian army historian, said: "In the first place it is absolutely incorrect to infer that Dieppe was purely a British plan. It was a plan that had the agreement of the Americans. The United States military leaders in Britain subscribed to it."

Another officer who preferred to remain unidentified said that it was clear that the results of the Dieppe operation did change the high level attitude of Allied strategists towards such invasions of the French coast. He turned to Col. Stacey's "Six Years of War" as his authority. At page 401 Col. Stacey wrote:

NEW TECHNIQUE

"A new technique of landing and support was required, and largely on the basis of the Dieppe experience it was developed before the Normandy assault of 1944."

The Dieppe experiences showed that launching such large-scale invasions depending upon surprise was not good enough. There had to be heavy naval bombardment and heavy bomber attacks to pave the way. In all future planning leading up to the Normandy invasion the Dieppe lessons played a part and undoubtedly saved lives.

Before Dieppe the planners had believed that the element of surprise without preparatory bombardment or bombing raids would be successful. After Dieppe that sort of thinking was forgotten, a Canadian staff officer pointed out.

STAR OF U.K. HOME OFFICE

Last of the Bureau-Cats Gets a Raise for Mousing

LONDON — The last bureau-cat in the service of the government, Peter, official mouser of the home office, has got a raise.

Peter is on the ministry's payroll at £6 10s ($18.20).

This pay, in reality an expense allowance, has been increased due to rising costs. Government cats used to serve in most ministries.

The home office got down a file marked "office cats, maintenance" to get Peter's history.

"It says here," the spokesman droned, "Peter joined the home office staff when he was a kitten 10 years ago."

What's Peter's score for mice?

"We don't keep statistics. But everyone seems satisfied that he does his job well."

What happens when Peter dies?

"We don't entertain the idea here."

As long as men can remember there always has been a Peter in the home office. Always black.

party. A specially iced and decorated birthday cake, at left, was cut. Mrs. Harris has many friends in this city and in other parts of North America. Prior to coming to Victoria she had gift shops (under the same name) in Calgary and in Atlanta, Ga. She is noted for her many kindnesses to her friends.

Marriage Vows in Naval Chapel

Baskets of white and pink chrysanthemums decorated the chapel in HMCS Naden for the wedding of Miss Sandra Eleanor Watson and David George McNab. The Presbyterian chaplain, Rev. C. H. MacLean officiated and the organist was Miss A. Thompson. Soloist, Miss E. Pollock sang "At Dawning."

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Watson of Charlottetown, P.E.I. and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. McNab of Victoria.

A waltz-length gown of white tiered French lace over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her wedding. A small pearl crown held the finger-tip veil and she carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid. She was given in marriage by her father, Mrs. A. D. Rayburn, matron of honor, and Miss Lynn McNab, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of bronze chiffon velvet with feather hats and carried nosegays of bronze and gold chrysanthemums. Rennie L. Major was best man and the ushers were Russell A. Watson and Robert Descoteau.

A reception was held in the Saltire Room at Holyrood House where A. Dudley Rayburn proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier cake was centred on a table that was covered with an ecru Queen Anne lace cloth.

The bride's mother wore a dusky rose lace over taffeta ensemble with navy accessories and gardenia corsage and the mother of the groom chose an ensemble of navy taffeta with pink accessories and pink rosebud corsage.

Later the couple left for an extended trip through the United States to Calgary where they will make their home. The new Mrs. McNab wore a turquoise French boucle suit and coat ensemble with navy accessories and white carnation corsage.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Watson from Prince Edward Island, and Mr. Lawrence Austin and Miss Barbara de Crewe of Vancouver. Also among the guests was the groom's 96-year-old grandmother, Mrs. Mary McNab, Victoria.

For Regiment — A sum of $1,000 was voted to the Canadian Scottish Regiment by the Ladies' Auxiliary which met recently with Mrs. M. Beddington presiding. Plans were made for a children's party to be held in December. Guest speaker was Kenneth Shore, from Seven Oaks School for emotionally disturbed children.

Burmese Women Have Joint Ownership of Property

OTTAWA (CP) — Although the working-wife trend is spreading to Burma, Daw Mya Win still wonders how North American women can combine careers, husbands, babies and homes.

The wife of Burma's first ambassador to Canada, Thado Maha Thray Sithu U Win told a reporter she has noticed that "the woman is independent" in marriages in this continent. "In eastern culture women are more respectful," she said. But a Burmese marriage is definitely a partnership—husband and wife are joint owners of all property acquired during their marriage. The Wins were making their first official visit to Ottawa. They live in Washington, since Mr. Win has the dual role of ambassador to both the United States and Canada.

The average B.C. Electric residential customer now uses nearly three times as much electricity as in 1946, but is paying less per kilowatt hour.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Mayo Clinic—Dr. A. W. Perry gave a talk on his recent trip to the Mayo Clinic and discussed new drugs and treatments employed in internal medicine at a meeting of Victoria District Registered Nurses Association of British Columbia, held in St. Joseph's Hospital. Miss J. Jamieson appealed for assistance from registered nurses to instruct in her home nursing class Wednesday and Thursday of each week. Miss E. Wright gave a report on an executive meeting of the Future Nurses' Club at which eight groups from district high schools were represented. Sister Mary Beatrice was named chairman of the nominating committee.

Gift-Fashion Show—Plans were discussed at meeting of Victoria Jaycee-Ettes for the gift and fashion show for men and women, the group will hold in conjunction with the 700 Block Yates Street on Nov. 12 and 13 at Club Sirocco. Refreshments will be served and comic relief entertainment provided. As an added feature a man's and a woman's wardrobe will be given away each night to a couple in attendance, as well as other door prizes. Tickets may be obtained from members of the Jaycee-Ettes or at any store in the 700 Block Yates Street Association. Proceeds will go to Jaycee-Ettes charities.

Rummage Sale—Arrangements were made at meeting of

$45,000.00 Worth of Antique and Modern Home Furnishings Going by Auction at MAYNARD'S on Wed., Thurs., Fri.

One of the most interesting auctions in recent times will be at Maynard's huge salerooms this week. A sneak preview was most interesting. Furs, jewellery, about 100 beautiful oil paintings, a baby grand, a unique Dulcitone 37 inches long, a collection of Oriental works of art with two outstanding pieces of Satsuma, teak dining furniture, a $900.00 French Provincial down-filled drawing room suite, Georgian dining furniture, a huge collection of fine Scotch crystal tableware, carpets, twin bedroom suites, expensive dictaphone, TV sets, major appliances, maple furniture, Chinese dolls, old lace, in fact, for those interested in either modern or antique household needs, the sale seems endless, it even includes a 1958 English station wagon.

Auction commences promptly at 7.30 each evening. Preview is until 9 Tuesday night and all day Wednesday.

Mr. Roberts stated that although the main salerooms are considered, by visitors to the city, to be the largest and most up to date in Canada, facilities have been taxed to the limit for this auction.

the Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, for a rummage sale to be held in Orange Hall, Courtney Street, next Friday at 7 p.m. Mrs. Ann Fouracre presided. Mrs. Beta Nickerson reported on activities of members at the Welcome Room for elderly people of the city and Mrs. Mae Brown was named press convener.

Centennial—Willard E. Ireland, provincial archivist, recently gave the Engineers' Wives' Association talk on activities of the B.C. Centennial Committee. Meeting was held in the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Keith Dixon and thanked by Mrs. W. E. Rolis. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. N. A. Magrath, Mrs. Rolis, Mrs. M. L. Zirul, Mrs. K. Reid, Mrs. J. W. Warr and Mrs. J. B. Hedley.

Woman Stabbed, Girl Jumps Under Bus

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 61-year-old Burnaby woman was found stabbed three times today a few hours before her 32-year-old daughter threw herself in front of a bus. Police withheld names. The mother's condition was serious. Her married daughter was in another hospital suffering from knife wounds on the wrists and throat, apparently suffered before she jumped in front of the bus.

Icy Lake Searched for Missing Pair

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—RCMP and army personnel searched the icy waters of Marsh Lake, 30 miles south of Whitehorse, today for two men missing since Sunday afternoon. Capt. Ralph Huene, 36, and Staff Sgt. Louis Kuhn, 40, of the army, have not been seen since they left their wives and a child on an island in the lake to take ashore a boat load of supplies.

Royals Minus 2 Against Cats Tonight

New Westminster Royals will be minus two forwards tonight when they play the Cougars in a Western Hockey League contest here. Arnie Schmutz is out for a month with a broken bone in his right ankle. Art Jones injured his shoulder last Saturday against Seattle.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Defenceman Gary Blaine arrives here today to join Vancouver Canucks after first refusing to report from Saskatoon Quakers.

B.C. Mercy Flight for 3-Pound Baby

VANCOUVER (CP)—An RCAF Canso aircraft left here today to pick up an Ocean Falls woman and her tiny baby and bring them to hospital at Vancouver. Facilities at Ocean Falls were deemed inadequate to care for the three-pound, premature baby.

U.S. WRITER'S VIEW ON CHINA

40,000 More
Mouths a Day

By JOHN STROHM

NEW YORK—"Malthus," said the professor, and my startled look must have amused him. "We're not worried about Malthus."

The speaker was an economist from the Economic Research Institute of Peiping and he spoke scornfully. His reference was, of course, to Thomas Albert Malthus, a British curate who died 124 years ago but whose theory that an unchecked population far outruns the growth of food supply is still the stuff that population arguments are based upon.

Red China's future hopes—to feed its expanding masses and to become a modern industrial power—rest squarely on the ability of 500,000,000 hoe swinging peasants to prove the thoughtful curate wrong.

There is an awesome task: to feed 640,000,000 persons. And every day another 40,000 mouths demanding rice!

Population experts project a population for mainland China in 25 years of one billion. By then the problem will be to feed this horde with only three tenths of an acre per person. (The U.S. today has two acres of cultivated land per person).

In no place upon the globe has so little land been called upon to sustain so many persons? Can it ever be done? Modern Malthusians in Washington, London and Moscow would give a lot to know.

Over and over I asked the question during my 7,500-mile trip across Red China, visiting farms in the major food-producing areas. Invariably the answers exuded the brash confidence of one fertilizer factory engineer who boasted:

"We can feed 15 billion people if we have to."

China has two secret weapons for dealing with what must surely be the biggest food problem any nation ever faced: 1. the "great leap forward in

TCA Charges
Bid Invalid

OTTAWA (CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines charged today that Canadian Pacific Airlines did not comply with government regulations in its application for a share of TCA's transcontinental monopoly.

John G. Edison, counsel for the publicly-owned TCA, questioned whether CPA's bid should be treated seriously "if it doesn't comply with the rules."

His statement followed questioning of R. B. Phillips, CPA operations vice-president, who acknowledged that certain financial details required by the regulations had not been inserted in the application before the air transport board.

But Mr. Phillips added that all the information to back up his financial statements was available. If TCA really wanted the details, it could have asked for them some time ago. "You didn't intend to supply the details unless TCA asked for them, despite the fact they are asked for in the regulations," Mr. Edison said.

He suggested the seven Douglas DC-6B piston-driven aircraft, which CPA would use if it got its requested Vancouver to Montreal franchise, would be made obsolete in a few years by the turbo-prop Vanguard and the jets, such as the DC-8.

Mr. Phillips said he could not agree with that. CPA might not be in as good a competitive position with piston aircraft as with the faster planes, but the DC-6B would show good service for some time.

Lawyer Asks
Sommers'
AcquittalDefence Ends
In Bribe Trial

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lawyer Angelo Branca today called for the unconditional acquittal of former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers as he wound up the defence in the marathon bribery-conspiracy trial.

The counsel for the 47-year-old former minister told an assize court jury that Sommers deserved their recommendation, not their condemnation.

Mr. Branca said it would be "most dangerous indeed" for the jury to accept the evidence of the crown's chief witness.

He tabbed the witness, former Pacific Coast Services Limited bookkeeper Charles Eversfield, as a dishonest man whose testimony was in conflict with testimony of other witnesses, and who was even in conflict with the very records he had kept for the timber brokerage firm.

Mr. Branca, representing former lands and forests minister Robert Sommers, suggested that if Eversfield had been an honest man he would have resigned from the Pacific firm when he became suspicious of illegal transactions.

SOUGHT MONEY

But he did not. Instead, he had taken documents from Pacific files knowing they would be most embarrassing because they recorded the transfer of funds to a minister of the crown.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield then formulated a plan to try to obtain some money from the Pacific firm.

The lawyer told the B.C. Supreme Court jury that Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson probably would instruct them as to Eversfield's position as an accomplice in the case. He anticipated his lordship would instruct the jury could convict on the evidence of an accomplice but it would be a dangerous thing to do.

"Why, Mr. Foreman and members of the jury, 'do something that is dangerous in law' the lawyer asked.

Mr. Branca said Eversfield's dishonesty was shown by a document allegedly setting out a three-way split of funds. It was Eversfield, he said, who had inserted the initials of H. W. Gray, Robert Sommers and Charles D. Schultz over three columns in the document.

Mr. Branca referred to earlier testimony by Sommers that he had made an $8,000 bank loan later in 1955 to repay more than $7,000 to H. W. Gray on the ad-

DULLES IN FORMOSA

Dulles Opens Talks
—'No Arm-Twisting'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—State Secretary Dulles and President Chiang Kai-shek opened their conference today against a backdrop of renewed cannonading of Quemoy.

After a 2½-hour meeting between Dulles and Chiang, a U.S. state department spokesman said "Mr. Dulles is not here to twist anybody's arm or apply any heat or pressure."

While the talks progress, the Chinese Communists sent their shore guns into action for the second day, but on a much lighter scale. The defence ministry said up to noon only 362 shells had hit Quemoy, compared with more than 11,500 Monday.

But there was no doubt the relationship of mutual trust and confidence of the two countries as allies.

The Red action stiffened Nationalist opposition to any such reduction of forces, however.

Dulles, on arrival, said his talks with Chiang "are not aimed at reaching any new agreements."

Greene took this tack on reports that the United States might bring pressure on Chiang to cut down forces on the offshore islands in the hope of obtaining a permanent cease-fire.

He said applying heat or pressure "would not be in tune with the relationship of mutual trust and confidence of the two countries as allies."

'Valuable Lesson'
In Dieppe RaidBy VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
(See page 12)

OTTAWA—The Dieppe raid, far from being a "useless" operation was part of a combined Anglo-American-Canadian strategy that had far reaching effects on future invasion plans, producing valuable lessons for the planners.

This is the conclusion of experts here—who have studied the Dieppe raid, including military historians and generals closely connected with the operation.

They took issue with American military historian Samuel Eliot Morison. He states in his book "Strategy and Compromise" that the Dieppe raid was a British waste of Canadian manpower.

Col. C. P. Stacey, official Canadian army historian, said: "In the first place it is absolutely incorrect to infer that Dieppe was purely a British plan. It was a plan that had the agreement of the Americans. The United States military leaders in Britain subscribed to it."

Another officer who preferred to remain unidentified said that it was clear that the results of the Dieppe operation did change the high level attitude of Allied strategists towards such invasions of the French coast.

Bid to Extend
Deadline Termed
'Farce' by A-G

By PETE LOUDON

The Sons of Freedom-Doukhobors' proposal to move to Russia is developing into "a farce," Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

He made the statement as chances grew slim that the troublesome sect will leave Canada.

With the deadline for filing forms only 12 hours away, only 44 have been turned in.

It is reported the guiding committee of the sect now wishes to renegotiate terms of government assistance and is sending a new delegation to see Mr. Bonner today.

'NONSENSE'

"I don't think either the federal or provincial governments have to scurry around to participate in that type of nonsense," said Mr. Bonner. "This is reducing the matter to a farce."

He had no appointment with a delegation, he said.

A lawyer representing the sect had contacted the attorney general Monday, outlining new proposals for financial aid.

Earlier, the two governments had promised to spend an estimated $2,000,000 in transportation and settlement assistance, if those wishing to leave Canada would sign forms giving up Canadian citizenship — effectively barring re-entry.

Mr. Bonner said: "That's not the way we can deal with this type of thing. We can't deal in this casual way on this short notice."

"This is a last-moment type of manoeuvre."

CONDITIONAL

He reminded the sect: "The minister of justice stated the governments' positions would be conditional upon filing of forms then signed by Oct. 21."

They are to be filed with government agents, or immigration officials at Vancouver, Nelson, Grand Forks or Rossland.

"The day is not over yet, but I have not heard of any filings. If evidence is shown that there has been insufficient time in certain cases, consideration has been given to another extension, but to no later than Nov. 15."

Ottawa Trip
Considered
By Bennett

Premier Bennett may go to Ottawa to further his campaign for increased federal aid to this province.

He said today B.C. will keep on applying for assistance in meeting 1958 forest fire costs, a federal waiving of a 10 per cent tax on new toll bridges, and a subsidy for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

He said at a press conference: "They (the federal government) can't see over the mountains."

Asked if there was any chance he would take his long-standing requests direct to the senior government, he replied: "There may be."

NO ANSWER

The premier confirmed there has been no answer to his August request for federal sharing of extraordinary forest fire fighting costs. He had asked Ottawa to pay 50 per cent of all costs above normal—which would have worked out at over $2,000,000.

Premier Bennett said "it is months" since he requested cancellation of the federal 10 per cent sales tax on materials going into new bridges.

"There has been no satisfaction from Ottawa regarding the PGE subsidy," he added.

"We will keep on applying," he stated.

Premier to Holiday

Premier Bennett plans a short vacation at an unnamed resort around the end of this month.

All he would tell reporters today was:

"The premier doesn't want to be tired when he makes his decisions."

CUBAN REBELS KIDNAP
2 AMERICAN OIL MEN

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban rebels kidnapped two Americans and seven Cuban employees of the American-owned Texaco refinery at Santiago de Cuba Monday, and fled with them into mountain hideouts.

The U.S. Embassy in Havana said the nine men were seized by a rebel band near the oil refinery around noon Monday.

The motive for the kidnapping was not learned. The rebels last June kidnapped several other Americans and three Canadians. They were released unharmed.

CHURCHES COOL ON CO-ED CHOIRS

Boys Sing Sweeter 'Solo'

Considerable sympathy has been expressed by choirmasters in Victoria and on the mainland for views held by former Christ Church Cathedral choirmaster Graham Steed on his all-male choir.

A difference with Cathedral officials who favored a mixed choir was one reason for his resignation last week.

Frederick Chubb, choirmaster and organist at St. John's Anglican Church said "it is pretty hard to mix voices."

"They are both good but you can't mix them, you have got to have either one or the other."

"There is no question about it from a musical point of view," said Herman Bergink of First Baptist Church, "boys' voices are the most beautiful."

field United Church said "mixed choirs are the tradition we ought to keep up in Canada. Using all-male choirs is just transporting English tradition to another country."

A survey of churches in Vancouver indicated the same feeling for male choirs existed there.

"We used to have an all-male choir in the good old days, and I sympathize with that ideal," commented Rev. Patrick Ellis of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

will pour into Taiwan Strait where direct clashes with United States forces are possible.

Chiang continued: "We must hold the offshore islands to prevent another world war."

Stukus quoted the Nationalist president as saying there is also no change in policy regarding Nationalist China's avowed intention of invading the Chinese mainland.

"Recovery of the mainland is a fixed policy," he said, Chiang told him. "It has not been changed."
